For three years, The Bank Family Quilters have spent a wee mite of the bank's money for fabric which they transform into a beautiful quilt.

The quilt is donated by State Bank of The Lakes employees to the Central Baptist Children's Home in Lake Villa for their annual raffle. More than six dozen State Bank of The Lakes employees participate during the year they spend creating a quilt.

This year's quilt raffle will occur Aug. 29 on the lawn at the Central Baptist Children's Home. The children's home is hosting a multi-event day-long Blast from the Past. It is a family-oriented celebration of old cars, a new car such as the Chrysler Prowler, children's fun events, an ice-cream social, and a Waukegan Symphony Orchestra concert by the lake.

One aspect of the event is a raffle for the quilt. Raffle tickets are now for sale at each of the bank's facilities in Grayslake, Antioch, and Lindenhurst. A ticket is $1 and six may be purchased for $5.

"Everyone is offered an opportunity to be involved," said Jan Wilke, of State Bank of The Lakes. Wilke serves as the coordinator for activities related to making the quilt.

All bank employees help choose the fabrics and can help with choosing the quilt design, making parts of the quilt, and assembling it. The quilt has blocks so people are able to work on it at their own pace.

A sign-up sheet is sent around the bank to secure volunteers to make the 18 block units of the quilt.

The bank provides materials for us to create the quilt," Wilke said. Fabrics come from Wendy Maston and Robin Kessell's Quilter's Dream at 902 Main Street in Antioch.

"They're both very helpful," said Wilke.

It takes some effort to make the quilt from scratch. "But, it's fun,"

Village says water is safe

To comment on EPA plans for landfill clean-up

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Within a week of H.O.D. Landfill hearings on a proposed cleanup plan, village officials released a statement related to public concerns about village water quality and about a proposed cleanup plan.

Village officials have issued a statement that the village water supply is safe. It was issued after a public hearing on a proposed U.S. Environmental Protection Agency cleanup plan for the H.O.D. Landfill on the east side of Antioch.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug said that the statement about village water safety was issued to clarify some of the issues related to village wells that had come at the Tuesday, Aug. 11 public hearing.

In addition, village trustees voted Monday, Aug. 17 to submit official comments to U.S. EPA on the proposed cleanup plan on behalf of village residents.

The resolution said, "The Village of Antioch will file an official public comment to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency on behalf of the citizens of the Village of Antioch indicating our concerns and other responses to the measures presented in the Remedial Investigation/Feasibility Study for the H.O.D. Landfill."

The comments were to be submitted by the Thursday, Aug. 20 deadline for comments.

The Mayor told trustees that the village has attorneys and scientists evaluating the report. "They are working on it as we speak," Shineflug said.

The resolution gave the village authority to submit a response in behalf of the village later in the week, according to Mayor Shineflug.

The separate statement on water quality was issued in response to questions "raised regarding the potential for contamination of the local water supply with vinyl chloride."

Village officials said that vinyl chloride at high levels "if continuously present" could cause health risks as described by the U.S. EPA in its proposed cleanup plan documents.

The village said that there are no known health risks associated with village drinking water.

The village further reported:

"Village well number 4 showed contamination in excess of maximum contaminant levels for vinyl chloride in early 1989. The Village originally found the contamination when personnel were sampling all wells for volatile organic compounds in compliance with a new Illinois law.

"After the discovery was made, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. EPA were notified. Additional sampling was done as often as weekly or more frequently and at a minimum monthly. These additional tests taken through August of 1989 showed some concentrations of vinyl chloride but below the maximum contaminant levels.

"After August of 1989, no further concentrations of vinyl chloride were found in any of the samples taken from well number 4."

The U.S. EPA stated in its Final Remedial Investigation/ Feasibility Study: "It should be noted that vinyl

FRIENDSHIP: Sewn together

she said. "It's definitely something worth keeping alive."

The quilt this year is queen-size with batting between the layers.

"It has a very Amish feel. It's traditional black with deep purple, jades, and lavenders in a grandmother's fan pattern," Wilke said. "It's all hand-tied."

"We have one lady who is our cross-stitcher," she makes a special label for the quilt. The quilt also comes with a package of documents about who worked on it.

"There are many, many who work on them," Wilke said.

"Presently it's being used as a wall hanging." The quilt is on display at the bank prior to the raffle.

The State Bank of The Lakes is involved with many community events throughout the year and makes donations of various kinds to many organizations. A few years ago, Bank President Roger Manderfeld asked Wilke if it would be possible for the bank to buy a quilt to donate to the Central Baptist Children's Home auction. Wilke suggested, instead, that bank employees make a quilt and donate it to the children's home.

"They use our quilt as their main raffle item," Wilke said.

It may be the main raffle item for the children's home, but actually, there is a lot more going on at the Central Baptist Children's Home than a quilt raffle.

The 4th annual Blast from the Past is a multi-activity event for the entire family on Saturday, Aug. 29. Adults and children have many opportunities to taste, hear, and see that makes the day a special event. Participation helps support child abuse prevention programs.

This year's lawn party also celebrates the 50th anniversary of Central Baptist Children's Home and Family Services in Lake Villa. It is an organization, however, that has been around for over 100 years.

Blast from the Past starts at 9 a.m. at the Central Baptist Children's Home at 215 North Milwaukee, known by some as Route 83, in Lake Villa. It is a mixture of free and paid attractions.

One of the strongest visual entertainments is the Classic Car Show, free for the public. Kroozers of Northern Illinois will host the vehicle display by members from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A special attraction this year will be the presence of Chrysler's Prowler automobile. The display is sponsored by Lake Villa Chrysler Plymouth.

Admission is charged for adults and children to attend the ice-cream social, the concert by the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra, and children's village. Adults are $8 and children under 6 are $3.

The Children's Village offers pony rides, a petting zoo, a train ride, and a moon walk. These fun activities are available from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Bright Beginnings Child Care Center.

There is a Quilt Expo hosted by the Northern Illinois Quilters Guild from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is a $2 admission charge.

The Ice-cream Social is sponsored by local community groups. It will be from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. One group to sponsor the ice cream social is the Antioch Woman's Club.

"We're going to have different kinds of ice-creams," said woman's club Past-president Mabel Lou Weber. "It should be a nice day."

Weber encourages people to turn out and have some ice-cream before the symphony concert.

"This is a wonderful way to raise money and keep communities working together," Weber said.

Between the ice cream and the concert is a Beanie Baby raffle drawing at 5 p.m. Diana, Erin, and Peace Beanie Babies will be offered for raffle.

The concert by the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra is at 5:30 p.m. by Deep Lake. Red Rose Children's Choir of Lake County will also perform. The concert is lawn seating. Blankets and lawn chairs are recommended for comfort.

There are four major sponsors for the children's home Blast from the Past. In addition to State Bank of The Lakes, the sponsors are Holiday Shoppe in Libertyville, Dietzgen, and Paul Bach's Lake Villa Chrysler Plymouth automobile dealership in downtown Lake Villa.

Work on next year's quilt has already started at State Bank of The Lakes according to Jan Wilke. "Two weeks ago, I called Quilter's Dream."

Last year, also, the quilt raffle winner wrote to the bank and thanked them for their work. "It was really exciting to read it," Wilke said. "Hearing back from people, that they appreciate it, is exciting for us."

EPA proposes landfill clean-up plan

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Officials from the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency Region 5 office met with township and community residents and officials to accept comments on, what could be, an estimated $7.2 million proposed clean-up plan for the H.O.D. Landfill Superfund Site.

Questions raised at the hearing concerned specific issues related to implementation of the agency's proposed plan or requests for additional information.

The environmental agency said that it would accept written comments on the proposed plan until Thursday, Aug. 20.

Several people at the hearing expressed concern about specific details related to implementation of the plan and requested information be provided.

In addition, the newly formed Kenosha Ground Water Team, of Trevor, Wis., presented a list of more than 50 technical questions to U.S. EPA prior to the meeting. The group stated, "These questions must be answered."

The hearing was held Tuesday, Aug. 11 at 7 p.m. at Antioch Village Hall.

U.S. EPA Community Involvement Coordinator Gordie Blum said a transcript of the evening's meeting will be placed on file at the Antioch Public Library District.

"We've come up with what we think is the overall best solution," Blum said. "You can help us judge how well the remedy is going to work."

U.S. EPA previously had performed a preliminary assessment and site evaluation which created a numerical evaluation of the site, according to Blum. "If it is over 28, the site is eligible for the superfund process," Blum said.

In response to a question by Christine Gustafson, of the Kenosha Groundwater Team, Assistant Regional Counsel C. Alan Walts said that the site score was 34.68.

The agency has previously stated in a report that the levels of vinyl chloride in ground water near the site exceed allowable risk levels. That evaluation is based on exceeding maximum levels permitted by drinking water standards.

"This potential risk is from potential ingestion of (drinking) and direct skin contact with vinyl chloride-contaminated water while showering. The potential risk from this type of exposure is nine potential additional cases of cancer for every 10,000 people exposed."

Ronald W. Murawski, current regional project manager, presented the agency's proposed plan to clean the site.

Murawski said that the primary goal of the clean-up activity was to reduce movement of the site's contaminants in the ground water.

were a god-send! Thanks to all of them as well!"

Antioch Community School District 34 is receiving more students every year. The registrations for this year's schools are now 2,114 students. "That's the largest ever," said Superintendent Daniel Burke.

The German-American Club of Antioch will host its annual Oktoberfest Saturday, Sept. 26 from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. There is music, dancing, good food and drinks. The music this year is by the John Wagner Band. Tickets are $7, but will be $8 at the door. They are available at the Wunderbar Restaurant and Hofmanns Barber Shop as well as from D. Jordahl or any members. There will be raffle prizes. As it was last year, the event is at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall on North Avenue a quarter mile east of Route 83.

The Lake County Race Unity Task Force will present "Overcoming Racism in a Culturally Diverse Society" Thursday, Aug. 27 from 7 to 9 p.m. It will be inside the Bevelidre Mall at the YWCA in Waukegan. The eight panelists will be moderated by Dr. Wadell Brooks Sr. Further information is available from 847-689-3766 or 847-623-0240.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Ken Patchen at 223-8161, ext. 131 or e-mail, edit@lnd.com.

chloride in (village well 4) was last detected on Aug. 23, 1989, at 0.2 ug/liter and has not been detected in 24 samples collected from this well since.

In September, 1997, the village closed well 4 and now uses well 7. This is a precautionary measure taken by the village.

The village further said: "Between 1989 and the present, more than 70 additional test samples have been taken on the village's other wells. While no vinyl chloride has been found in any of these samples, the satisfactory cleanup of the landfill will better assure the continued production of safe drinking water.

"Monitoring of the village wells continues and all the wells on-line for the village are producing quality drinking water with no known health risks."

People with private wells beyond village limits can contact the Lake County Health Department by telephone at 847-360-6700 to discuss their concerns.

When the dust settled at the county fair, the 1998 Miss Lake County Fair Queen and the first and second runner-up all turned out to be students at Antioch Community High School and living in northwest Lake County communities.

Through 1998 and 1999, the ambassadors for Lake County will be people who have grown up at the edge of the Chicago suburban experience in one of the state's strongest outdoor-tourism destination areas.

The 1998 Miss Lake County Fair Queen is Kacy Sehmer of Lindenhurst, a senior class student at Antioch Community High School. Selected as first runner-up at the county fair was Miss Antioch Laura Harvey, a senior at ACHS. The second runner-up is Miss Lake Villa Rachelle Friesen, a graduating senior of ACHS.

"We were all backstage and holding hands and we realized that we were all from the same school," said Rachelle Friesen. The three schoolmates were about to be introduced as a group. No one with the fair pageant that evening was aware yet if the selection of three representatives from one high school had happened before.

Friesen will be able to focus on her college studies, however. She is a student this month at Lake Forest College. "The second runner-up, as far as I know, has no duties," she said. "I did attend all the other pageants."

As the Lake Villa community ambassador, Friesen circulated at the fair to greet people, be available to help them, and to answer questions for people. "I had a lot of fun."

First runner-up Laura Harvey is a close friend of fair queen Kacy Sehmer. They are mutually supportive and will now have the opportunity to work together. Were Sehmer to have to give up her crown, Harvey would serve in her place as the fair representative.

"It has to be appropriate," said Harvey. For example, if the Lake County fair queen were selected as an Illinois State fair queen, the possibility of schedule conflicts would increase. This would be an occasion for Harvey to help out her friend and the county fair.

In the meantime, she is Miss Antioch. "It has been busy," she said of the past summer weeks. She represented the Village of Antioch at the county fair and met with people who attend-

Harvey said that she will be busy near the winter holidays and next spring. She will be working with drug education efforts such as the police department's D.A.R.E. program. She will help out with the A.L.L. Parent Network Red-Ribbon fund-raising campaign at the high school. She will be meeting with children in the grade schools.

"I look forward to it," she said. Serving as first runner-up for the fair queen is just another, somewhat unique, opportunity for this year's village queen.

"I'll be representing Lake County all year," said Kacy Sehmer, 1998 Fair Queen. Her first task, however, was to participate in the county fair. Pageant officials had warned her: "Just be aware that the winner of the county fair pageant will be 'living' there."

During the five-day event in Grayslake, Sehmer was expected always to be present for scheduled events and to meet people who attended the fair.

In January, 1999, she will represent Lake County at the Illinois State Fair Pageant and could be selected 1999 Illinois State Fair Queen.

Sehmer's experience at the county fair involved her in a variety of new experiences. "I milked a goat. It was fun," she said. Somewhere, in her queen training, she learned how to milk a goat.

Her family bought Max, a champion pig, in the livestock auction. "It's the first time a county fair queen has ever bought a pig," she said. "I went to see him."

As county fair queen, Sehmer expects there will be a busy year of attending events as a county ambassador. This will include parades, holiday events, and special occasion meetings.

"I've always thought Lake County is a very beautiful place," she said. Her mother wanted to live on a lake, so this area was a natural place for them to live. Sehmer likes Lindenhurst very much.

Part of what she will do is prepare to represent Lake County at the state pageant. Since Lake County is not a major agricultural county, she will prepare herself to represent an agricultural state.

Sehmer: Miss Lindenhurst named Miss Lake County

Harvey: Miss Antioch first runner-up

Friesen: Miss Lake Villa second runner-up

"I plan to do some research on different agricultural things," she said.

Sehmer will continue to enjoy her final year at ACHS. She is an honor roll student and plays sports.

"I love art classes," she said. She also liked drama, but was not able to remain involved after her first two years.

"I've also enjoyed science classes. Chemistry was tough, but it was interesting," she said. She has been a varsity cheerleader for football and basketball.

Sehmer likes to read and listen to music. "I listen to a lot of different music. I do like country," she said.

"Most reading I've done this summer is informative," she said. It has been hard to break-out time to read for pleasure. "I enjoy reading adventure stories."

"I enjoy cheerleading," she said. This year, Kacy's sister, Whitney, enters ACHS and will be a freshman cheerleader. The relationship between Kacy and her sister is close.

"She has been an angel for me," Kacy said. "She's always right there for me. She's been a great sister."

When Kacy is cheerleading for the school, she is also encouraging her brothers who have played football there. Brother Nathan is a junior, Peter is now a sophomore at Illinois Wesleyan University, and Phillip is a seventh grade home-schooler.

Parents Carolyn and Peter have also been a supportive part of her involvement in the queen pageants. "My Mom has been my backbone," Kacy said. "She really does deserve a lot of credit."

The pageant experience has been very positive one for Kacy Sehmer. "It has helped make me organized, self-motivated, disciplined."

It has also opened her eyes to the community. "I had never really met a mayor," she said. Now she has met a lot of government officials and trustees, all the way up to the governor, Jim Edgar.

This past year she worked with Lindenhurst Mayor Paul E. Baumunk on a wide variety of projects as a community representative. She has attended many events and seen how the village works to get things done.

"It's definitely given me a different perspective," Sehmer said.

ANTIOCH

Warrant arrests

Antioch Police Officers arrested two people last week on outstanding warrants.

Officers arrested Daniel S. Davis, 29, of Antioch, on Tuesday, Aug. 11 at 2:06 a.m. at home. He was wanted on a Lake County Sheriff's Office warrant.

Officers also arrested John T. Dolk, 52, of Lake Villa, on Friday, Aug. 14 at 3:52 p.m. in the 900 block of Route 59. He was wanted on a Lake County Sheriff's Office warrant. He was remanded to the Lake County jail.

LINDENHURST

Tresspass to vehicle

Lindenhurst Police Officers arrested Stefan R. Hunter, 17, of Round Lake Beach, on Monday, Aug. 10 at 11:10 p.m. traveling in a 1986 silver Oldsmobile Delta 88 in the 2100 block of Sand Lake Road. He was charged with failure to yield, having a defective windshield, no insurance, no valid drivers license, and trespass to vehicle. He was released on bond pending an Aug. 26 court date in Waukegan at 9 a.m.

Search warrant served

Lindenhurst Police Officers and agents of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG) served a search warrant at a Lindenhurst residence on Saturday, Aug. 15. The search warrant was signed by Judge Victoria Martin. Eight individuals present or arriving at the residence were placed in temporary custody during the execution of the search warrant. All persons were released upon completion of the operation. An investigation by police continues.

LAKE VILLA

Stopped for failure to signal

On Aug. 13 at 10:22 p.m., Ronald E. Hunt, 26 of Round Lake Beach was observed by a Lake Villa officer turning onto Cedar Avenue from Route 132 without signaling his intentions.

Hunt was charged with failure to signal and driving with a revoked license.

He was released on bond pending a court date of Sept. 9 in Grayslake.

Speeding

Lowell S. Sheehan, 18, of Fox Lake was stopped for speeding on Aug. 8 on Grass Lake Road near Painted Lakes Blvd.

He was stopped for driving 59 miles per hour in a 45 zone. Sheehan was charged with speeding and driving with no valid license.

He was released on bond pending a court date of Sept. 9 in Grayslake.

Driving under the influence

Charles Joseph Mark, 43, of 2553 Mallard Drive, Lindenhurst, was stopped on Aug. 8 at 11 p.m. while attempting to leave the Lake Villa Metra Station in his car.

Lake Villa officers were advised of his presence at the Lake Villa Metra Station parking lot by Lake County Sheriff's Reserve officers.

Mark was observed weaving in his vehicle and almost hitting some parked cars before being stopped by officers.

He failed field sobriety tests and was transported to the Antioch Police Department.

He was charged with driving under the influence and blood alcohol count over the legal limit. (b.a.c. .19)

Mark was released on bond pending a court date of Aug. 24 in Waukegan.

Arrested for possession

On Aug. 10 at 4:51 p.m., two men and two juveniles were stopped by Lake Villa Police in the vicinity of Route 134 and Route 59. Officers stopped the car for having no license plate.

They arrested driver Daniel Hernandez, 21, of Fox Lake and passenger Kenneth Eugene Smith, 22, of Fox Lake.

Hernandez was charged with driving without his drivers license, driving an uninsured vehicle, and possession of cannabis after police dog located a bag of green leafy substance stuffed under the dashboard.

Smith was also charged with possession.

Officers found two postal weighing scales in the pockets of one of the juveniles and two under the seat of the vehicle.

The juveniles were released to their parents. Hernandez and Smith were released on bond pending a court date of Sept. 9 in Grayslake.

Supremacist painting slogans, caught

By ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

Three adults and one juvenile have been charged in connection with vandalism to an area near Mount Rest Cemetery along Old Route 41, in Newport Township, Aug. 12.

In the early morning of Aug. 12, Lake County Sheriff's Deputies observed the offenders near the cemetery. Extra patrols had been placed in the area following a report of vandalism at the cemetery.

The four subjects fled on foot when they spotted police nearby. Upon investigation the deputies discovered street signs, the pavement and overpass bridge had been freshly spray painted.

The slogans were anti-Semitic in nature. The graffiti included the numeral "88" which stands for "H" the eighth letter of the alphabet. The slogan refers to "Heil Hitler" in supremacist groups. A swastika was also painted in the area.

Police discovered hate material and an aluminum baseball bat in the vehicle which the offenders left behind. The bat was connected with a criminal damage to auto incident which occurred near the intersection of Route 173 and Kilbourne Road that same night.

Two of the offenders were apprehended at the scene. The juvenile was released to his parents. The other, Aaron Winn, 18, of Beach Park, was taken into custody. Erick Eberhardt, 18, of Waukegan, and Patrick Mustell, 18, of Beach Park, were taken into custody later.

They were all charged with criminal damage to property. The sheriff's department reports it is working on an investigation with the Lake County States Attorney's Office to consider charges in relation to committing a hate crime and vandalism.

"We're still investigating whether they have ties to any structured organization in relation to skinheads or white supremacy groups," explained Deputy Chief Robert Randall, of the sheriff's office.

Mount Rest Cemetery was damaged between Aug. 5-11 when headstones were knocked to the ground.

The sheriff's department is waiting for a damage estimate from the cemetery association and the Illinois Department of Transportation for the graffiti sprayed on the overpass and pavement.

13-year-old duo nabbed for theft

Spent summer stealing from cars

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Two juveniles, 13, spent their summer vacation stealing pocket change, knives, and cellular telephones from cars in Lindenhurst.

Lindenhurst Police Officers have charged both juveniles with 10 counts of burglary to motor vehicles and criminal trespass to motor vehicles. They have been referred to juvenile court.

Officers arrested two juveniles Wednesday, Aug. 12, for burglary of a motor vehicle. Subsequent investigation revealed that the two juveniles were responsible for 10 to 15 other burglaries of vehicles in the village.

The juveniles said that they had been stealing items from vehicles since the beginning of summer. Stolen cellular telephones were resold and are not retrievable, according to the police department.

Lindenhurst Police Department officers are continuing their investigation.

Talking Health

ROLLERBLADING FOR YOUR BACK

Rollerblading is exciting, provocative, and reputedly dangerous--and it offers some of the best low-impact exercises available for the back and legs. How can a sport which fills doctors' offices, be safe for bad backs?

The answer is simple. Rollerblade injuries are mostly the cut-and-scrrape variety and are the result of not wearing protective gear. But if you strap on a helmet and knee pads, this new sport can be one of the safest around. Rollerblading movements require strong legs, not a superior spine, and the stance you assume in the sport actually protects your back.

The benefits of the sport are many; it conditions and strengthens the legs and torso, works the arms and the heart, and allows you to experience the smooth exhilaration of ice skating without a rink or cold weather. Rollerblading demands a lot from hamstrings and heel cords, so be sure to stretch well before you start.

If maintaining your health and reducing stress is important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847-740-2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Our clinic is located at 314 Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach (Eagle Creek Plaza - corner of Cedar Lake and Rollins Roads.)

STRUCTURAL INSPECTIONS

If you have a house for sale in Antioch, your buyers will probably include a structural inspection contingency in the contract which will allow them to have an expert check the house and he major systems and appliances.

A professional structural inspector can help buyers to "know" the house and to feel comfortable with it, but the inspection does not result in a pass or fail grade. The buyers will learn important things about the house, such as where the water cutoff valve is located, in case of an emergency. The inspection may also help buyers set up a budget for repairs and determination if they want to invest in cost-effective measures to increase energy efficiency.

Buyers rarely back out of a sale after a structural inspection. Even if there are problems, you have the opportunity to negotiate a compromise and avoid any obstacles that could seriously threaten the sale.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Lions thank community sponsors for work

Dear Editor:

We wish to thank the members of the Lions Club and the community that supported the Club's 40th Annual Farmers Picnic/Chicken Barbecue. More than 2,300 dinners were served along with fresh roasted corn, and more than 100 pounds of brats and hot dogs. Helping the Lions in their efforts this year were the Antioch Junior Woman's Club on the serving line, Boy Scout Troop #92 on clean-up, along with countless family members, neighbors, and friends.

The annual 50/50 cash raffle raised $3,500 with half of the proceeds going for Sight, Hearing, and Diabetes programs in the community supported by the Antioch Lions Club. Winners of the remaining half included: Jodi Banser, first place $875; Helen McClean, second place, $525; and Al Little, third place, $350.

Ms. Banser donated $100 of her winnings to the Antioch Rescue Squad and Al Little donated his entire winnings to the Antioch Rescue Squad.

In addition to the work toward Sight, Hearing and Diabetes done by the Antioch Lions Club, the club is very involved with the community and has been a major supporter of the Antioch Rescue Squad throughout its existence. This year, $1 of each purchased dinner will go toward the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center.

Jack Miller and Bob Mueller
Co-chairpersons
1998 Chicken Barbecue.

Woman's clubs focus on community

Antioch Woman's Club and Antioch Junior Woman's Club members participated in July summer workshops for district officers on Thursday, July 9 in Matteson, Ill.

Workshops focused on specific topics including child abuse and elder abuse. Child and elder abuse is a special emphasis area this year for the Illinois Chapter of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Illinois President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Jean Seitzinger, of Charleston, and the Junior Director, Bonnie Heydorn, of Winfield, opened each workshop session.

Antioch women from each local club attended workshop sessions on the following topics: arts, conservation, education, health, home life, international affairs, and public affairs. In addition, workshop sessions were conducted on organizational projects, leadership, membership, and public relations.

In Antioch, both clubs are actively involved in community events and projects. The clubs have worked together on projects such as the CHAD-sticker program with the Antioch Rescue Squad. The stickers provide child safety information to rescue personnel if parents are unable to do so during an emergency or accident. Stickers are available at the Antioch Township Office at 77 Route 173.

The Antioch clubs provide scholarships for Community High School students. They also provide fund-raising support for area organizations such as A Safe Place, Central Baptist Children's Home, the Lions Club's Operation Smile, and Burn Camp for children who survive fire injuries.

Both clubs also conduct their own fund-raising activities, and members hold leadership positions in other community organizations.

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club will work with the Antioch Lion's Club on Sunday, Aug. 2 to distribute 2,500 half-chicken dinners at the 40th Annual Lions Barbecue and Rescue Squad Auction at Williams Park starting at noon.

The Antioch Woman's Club will sell desserts at the barbecue and auction.

Attending the July GFWC sessions were: Cathie Hackeloe, Antioch Junior Woman's Club President; Carol Pavelski, Antioch Woman's Club President; and, Linda Pedersen, who is also the GFWC Illinois 10th District President.

Past-presidents Mabel Lou Weber, of the Woman's Club, and Amy Winters, of the Junior Woman's Club, also attended the early July regional gathering.

Other club members who attended were Susan Hahn, Terry Korom, Nancy Zitkus, Arlene Barber, and Amy Henning.

Local Woman's clubs are one of the oldest, largest woman's volunteer organizations in the world. Membership information is available at 1-800-443-4392. GFWC maintains a web page at www.gfwc.org. There are more than 6,500 clubs working locally in over 20 countries.

The national headquarters of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington, D.C. provides program support and maintains the Women's History and Resource Center. The center also is a depository of information about women's volunteer work in local communities.

A new member to the family

Well, the papers have been signed and the commitment has been made: The Pringle's are the proud owners of (I can't believe I am saying this) a puppy. Yes, an 8 week old little critter now resides at the Plantation with the rest of the tribe. I can't say I am crazy about the idea, but I have been out-voted five to one, and my bags would have been waiting at the curb if I had insisted the little fellow be returned to its former owner—namely his mother. I thought the infant tending years were past, but oh how wrong I was. It just goes to show that there is no sure thing in life except dying and taxes.

The little guy is as cute as a bug's ear, but unfortunately his paws are the size of a lion's justifying his name, "Simba." I have to admit he is fun to watch as he rolls down hills and chases butterflies and he does cause one to chuckle as he eats fluff and barks at his tail. But it's the chewing of shoes and throw rugs, not too mention the deposit of dog hair and other bodily fluids anywhere and everywhere, that leaves mom wary of this little canine.

He is so much like a baby, I think hubby is going to try and claim him for a tax deduction this year. (I'm just kidding, Mr. IRS—we have enough tax write offs at the present time). He puts everything in his mouth, he cries all night long, he whines for attention, he barks to eat, he whimpers to crawl up in your lap and, did I mention he piddles every chance he gets? My only salvage is that some creative sole is on the verge of patenting doggy diapers—please hurry.

Oh, sure, he makes us laugh with his sideways walk and pounc-

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE
Lynn Pringle

ing on ants in the driveway but that cuteness wears real thin about 3 in the morning, when Sir Simba wants out of his crate and it's play time.

Every rule known to dog, and promised to mom, has already been broken. I was assured there would be no laying on furniture, no eating from the table, no messes to clean up, no 50 pound bags of dog food to be hauled out to the van—who are they kidding? Do they honestly think mom was born yesterday? Once the novelty wears off and the winter sets in, who exactly do they think is going to be out walking and picking up after Rin Tin Tin? I have vowed to stick to my guns on this one—I am not going to be responsible. I am going to go about my business and not let "feed dog," "walk dog," "Take dog to vet" appear on my daily chore list—well at least for the first month of so.

Unfortunately, it's a mom thing. And what irritates me more than actually acquiring a puppy is the fact that the members of this family are well aware of the "mom" factor. The factor that is naturally equipped with nurturing and caring for the young. The factor that oozes from our very pores. The factor that can't resist a snugly face. The factor that betrays us every time.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Back to school time for area high schoolers

With summer quickly coming to a close and school starting back up, it's time to look forward to the fall sports which are just around the corner.

Yes, football is the first to get going, and the most high-profile of the fall sports. But not to be overlooked are the others: volleyball, cross country, golf, swimming, and soccer.

A number of the schools in our coverage area have standout programs in these sports. Libertyville, Antioch, and Warren all have strong girls volleyball programs, with some of our other schools excelling in various other sports.

Last week I wrote about my picks for most improved football team and best team in our area, and I mistakenly noted Quinn Gooch as a strong point in the Antioch offense. A helpful reader e-mailed me that the Gooch family, a source of athletic excellence for Antioch Community High School, moved out of the state. I apologize for the confusion, but still believe Antioch could surprise some people if they get some breaks and lucky bounces.

The Wildcat Football Parents Association invites all football players, coaches, pom poms, statisticians, managers and families to join us for the annual Scrimmage Day Picnic.

The Scrimmage Day Picnic will be held Saturday, Aug. 22, 1998 at 11:00 a.m. at the north end of the football field. Sophomore parents should bring a dessert to pass.

The Mundelein High school Booster Club will host the Fall Sports Night Thursday, Aug. 20 at 7:00 p.m. at Mundelein High School. Athletes and parents of fall sports are encouraged to attend.

The evening will give parents the opportunity to meet and interact with the coaching staff. The new line of Mundelein Spirit Wear will also be introduced.

Additionally, on Aug. 21 football kicks off with a pre-season Red and Gray Scrimmage at the Mundelein High School field, with the freshmen playing at 5:00 p.m., the sophomores at 6:00 p.m., and the varsity at 7:30 p.m.

The MHS varsity soccer team will scrimmage Tuesday, Aug. 25 at 6:00 p.m. Any questions, please call the athletic department at 949-2200.

The Lake County Youth Ice Hockey Association will be holding registration for their in-house hockey league. The program is for boys and girls ages 7-13 that have little or no hockey experience or those that don't want to participate in an intense travel program.

Applications will be taken Aug. 22 from 12-4:00 p.m. at the Lake County Ice Sports and Fitness Center at 351 Oakwood Ave. in Waukegan. For more information, please contact Keith Rutkowski at 675-1095.

ACHS Moms dish it out too

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Community High School varsity football players aren't the only ones working hard to do their part in support of the school's football program. Team mothers and fathers have been dishing it out for years.

At Antioch High, there is a little more energy in the steps of the Sequoits, as they know what lies ahead. For 21 years, a dedicated group of mothers, and, yes, fathers, help prepare a nutritional lunch in the cafeteria.

"They come in at 11 a.m. and we have everything ready. They all have 20 minutes to eat. The macaroni is the big hit. We also have sandwiches, give carbohydrates and fresh fruit," said Dee Lang.

Lang describes the effort from the mothers as a teamwork approach with about seven working daily. Construction around the school has presented obstacles, such as no lights in some hallways and occasional power outages, but the Sequoits' tradition could not be stopped.

"As you come up through the ranks, the moms ahead of you discuss the details," said Lang.

Lang proudly wears the No. 62 button of her son, Drew. An older son, Derek, is a fifth year player at Iowa Wesleyan, a starting defensive end.

"The Dads get involved with the cookout in the courtyard," said Lang.

Lang complimented all who pitch in, declining to be described as the leader. The tradition began in 1977 under then head coach Steve Wapon's direction.

"I think the players now appreciate it as much, if not more so, than the earlier players. It develops an esprit de corps because we are eating nutritional meals together. We used to have three practices a day. The moms would also bring fluids," said Wapon.

There are some obvious benefits of a nutritional pre-game meal compared to leaving it up to some bad habits.

"One time before we were to play Crystal Lake Central, a player got sick from french fries," said Wapon.

The sacrifices of the parents today is even more of an effort considering busy schedules and the need to have items donated. Some were on hand Sunday preparing for the next week's meals.

"Parents are a resource some schools may be afraid to take advantage of," said Wapon.

One pre-season, the cookout was held so parents could watch a late pre-season practice.

The efforts of the moms, and dads, is not lost on present-day Sequoits.

"It helps a lot. You are so hungry after practice," said Matt Ingram, a senior running back.

The moms serve breakfast before home games, beginning Aug. 29 with the season opener against Plainfield, and post-game meals after away games.

Antioch defense prepares for tough NSC

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

It is an age-old question which dates back to the pioneer days of pre-season double practice sessions.

Is the defense ahead of the offense or is it vice versa?

"The defense is a lot of reaction, and not timing. If you have good athletes, you should react well," said Antioch defensive coordinator Mike Gordy.

Gone are the likes of Reggie Hughes, taking his talents to Augustana College. Gordy hopes two or three players will strive to reach Hughes' level of intensity. In fact, the loss of Hughes and his colleagues means a potential of nine new starters on defense.

"We have a lot of juniors and seniors who have shown well, too," said Gordy.

Seniors who could provide leadership in the 4-4 formations include: Jake Crammond (6-1, 180) at linebacker; Dan Schaughnessy at outside linebacker; Steve Smart at defensive end. One significant injury is returning starter Nate Carden. He suffered a stress fracture on an ankle this summer. Linebacker Chris Vanderkooy, a senior, is back after being a part-time player last year for Antioch.

Underclassmen gaining the early eye from coaches include: junior corner back Jim Richardson, who played three games on the varsity as a sophomore and sophomore Adam Wallace a 6-1, 185 pounder described as a leader with a quick 4.8 40-yard dash.

"You don't want to put a lot of pressure early on the underclassmen — you want to make it fun and put them in a position where they can succeed. I like our athletic ability, but I wish we had more depth. But it is nice to work with a group you don't have to worry about," said Gordy.

Antioch is proud of its tradition on defense, finishing in the top three in Lake County in a 5-4 season last year.

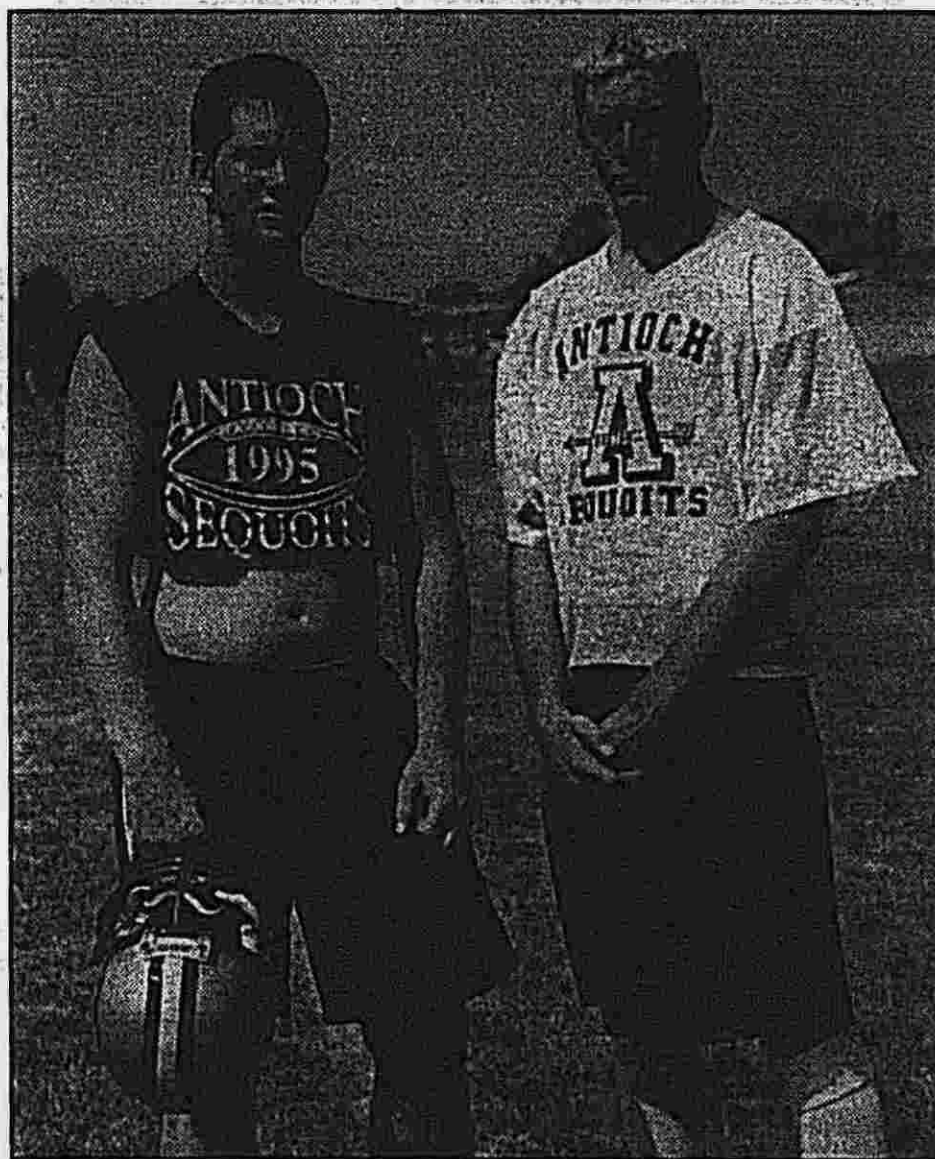

The offense is progressing for the Aug. 29-opener when Plainfield visits.

"It has been pretty intense. I hope for a big role my senior year. I ran a lot, did weight lifting and we were in the passing league at Grant," said senior running back Adam Podastawa.

Podastawa, who has been involved with Antioch area football since his youth Viking days, and Matt Ingram will be counted on in the backfield behind QB Don Lackey. Quinn Gooch's move to Arizona has been an adjustment for ACHS.

"He is a lot better and more mature," said Podastawa of Lackey, a senior.

Antioch All-Stars complete great season

Antioch's 10-year-old All-Stars completed one of the best all-star tournament competitions in its history.

After winning the district 16 title in Mundelein in middle July, which qualified them for Sectional play, they went on to win a nine team Round Robin tournament in Cary (pictured here). In that tournament Antioch went on to win all four games by a total of 45 runs, beating host Cary by a score of 6-5.

Then Antioch went on to sectionals in Norridge for the state Williamsport tournament. The All-stars went on to beat Crystal Lake in game one and game three in the double elimination tournament. But lost to River Forest (District 10) in game two and lost to them again in the championship game to finish their outstanding post season.

Antioch as a team would like to have parents, AYB and community for its support during its great all-star participation.

Antioch tennis raring to go

Time was when a coach could put a sign up on a wall and players would know a new tennis season is beginning.

Antioch coach Bryan Plinske added a few steps and had a positive result.

"We were very visible at eighth grade night. We also had our own Web page. We were pleasantly surprised," said Plinske.

When practices started, some 30 girls reported for the start of tennis season.

"We have five starters back of last year's top eight. A number went to a camp at University of Wisconsin-Whitewater or took private lessons. It was obvious the first day," said Plinske.

Sophomore No. 1 singles Mandy Hughes is back, but has plenty of competition for other singles slots. Junior Jennifer Rogers played No. 2 last year, while Kristen Jensen, a sophomore, was No. 1 on the JV singles roster; Junior Silvia Skripkauskaitis wins the longest name award and is the No. 2 singles JV returnee. Erin Boodey played doubles last year and will try singles. Juniors Kathrina Knauth, an exchange student, and Olekfandra Didyk, are back.

Doubles players back are seniors Erick Johnson, No. 2 last year and Carina Hauenstein, who played No. 3 doubles spot.

"It is tough to say what our strengths are. They have good ground strokes. My goal is to get the first two singles spots settled, and see what we have for doubles by the second or third week," said Plinske.

The opener looms, Aug. 27 hosting Carmel.

Plinske, in his third year coaching girls tennis, said he and his team are determined to secure a spot in the top four in the North Suburban Conference.

"We would love to knock off a Warren or Libertyville," said Plinske.

ACHS girls golf experienced for new season's challenges

With the loss of only one senior due to graduation, Antioch golf coach Steve Wapon counted on several familiar faces for the first day of practice.

Last year's team leader, Abbey Clark, is playing golf at Iowa Wesleyan.

"We have had some good practices. We have a lot of experienced. This could be one of the strongest teams," said Wapon.

Junior Sara Groh won MVP honors last year with a 46 average for nine holes. She won a medal with a 10th place at the North Suburban Conference meet.

"She was champion at Medinah's meet this summer, and placed at Palatine, Hersey and Champaign. Her biggest thing is she is good tee to fairway and her short game is sharp," said Wapon.

Other players who may emerge as early leaders:

Senior Kristen Hungarland, an all-NSC performer last year, with a 50 average; senior Veronica Pazanin, a letter winner with a 51 average.

"Veronica played the most holes over the summer, 750. Her course management, and decision making and playing with more confidence are her strengths," said Wapon.

Karen Drengler, a letter winner, who improved last year, is back. Also returning is junior Brittany Cable.

Junior varsity players last year looking to contribute are: senior Jenny Barbera, who had a 59 average; senior Carrie Noonan, a 57 average and junior Carrie Cybul, a 58 average and 300 holes of golf experience this summer.

ACHS opens with three straight home meets at Spring Valley Golf Course. Kenosha Tremper and Palatine visit Aug. 24 and Evanston and Westosha, Wis. battle ACHS on Aug. 24. Hersey rounds out the opening week at home Aug. 27.

"We could have a good team, but with the North Suburban Conference, still have a lot of losses," said Wapon.

A tough tournament schedule is also should help the Sequoias prepare for the likes of Lake Forest and Libertyville.

"We return experience, which is a plus. Our scores have been consistent, nothing extreme. The short games causes the most problems, but we are seeing less and less three-putt greens," said Wapon.

Also on tap for ACHS sports the first week back in fall seasons:

The field hockey squad is at Deerfield Aug. 29.

Boys golf hosts Harvard Aug. 25.

Warren's Witt shines in 'Cup of Harlem'

WTHS goalkeeper holds his own in international competition

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

Until recently, Witt's high school playing experience consisted solely of the freshman soccer team's schedule at Warren Township High School. But before he steps on the field as a sophomore, he knows that he has played with some of the best in the world.

Witt was selected to be a part of the American team competing in the Coca-Cola Cup of Harlem, which took place in Harlem, Holland in August.

Jeremy and the other members of the American team met for the first time in Holland, and the boys bonded almost immediately, according to Sheryl.

"It was a great experience and it was really fun," said Witt.

Jeremy's mother, Sheryl, said the 10-day experience was a definite plus for Jeremy.

"It was wonderful. He went over and met all the other kids and really bonded with them."

Jeremy was one of the youngest players in the tournament. As a 15-year-old sophomore, Jeremy was faced with defending stinging shots from 17 and 18-year-old seniors from various European countries.

"They're really good," said Jeremy, referring to the competition in the tournament. "The (quality of) play was much better (than what he's faced)."

Jeremy was the starting goalkeeper for the Blue Devils' freshman team, where he compiled a goals-against average just over 1.0 and earned team MVP honors. In the four games in Holland, Jeremy allowed just six goals, for a 1.5 goals-against average.

One thing that playing against better competition has helped Jeremy with is his confidence.

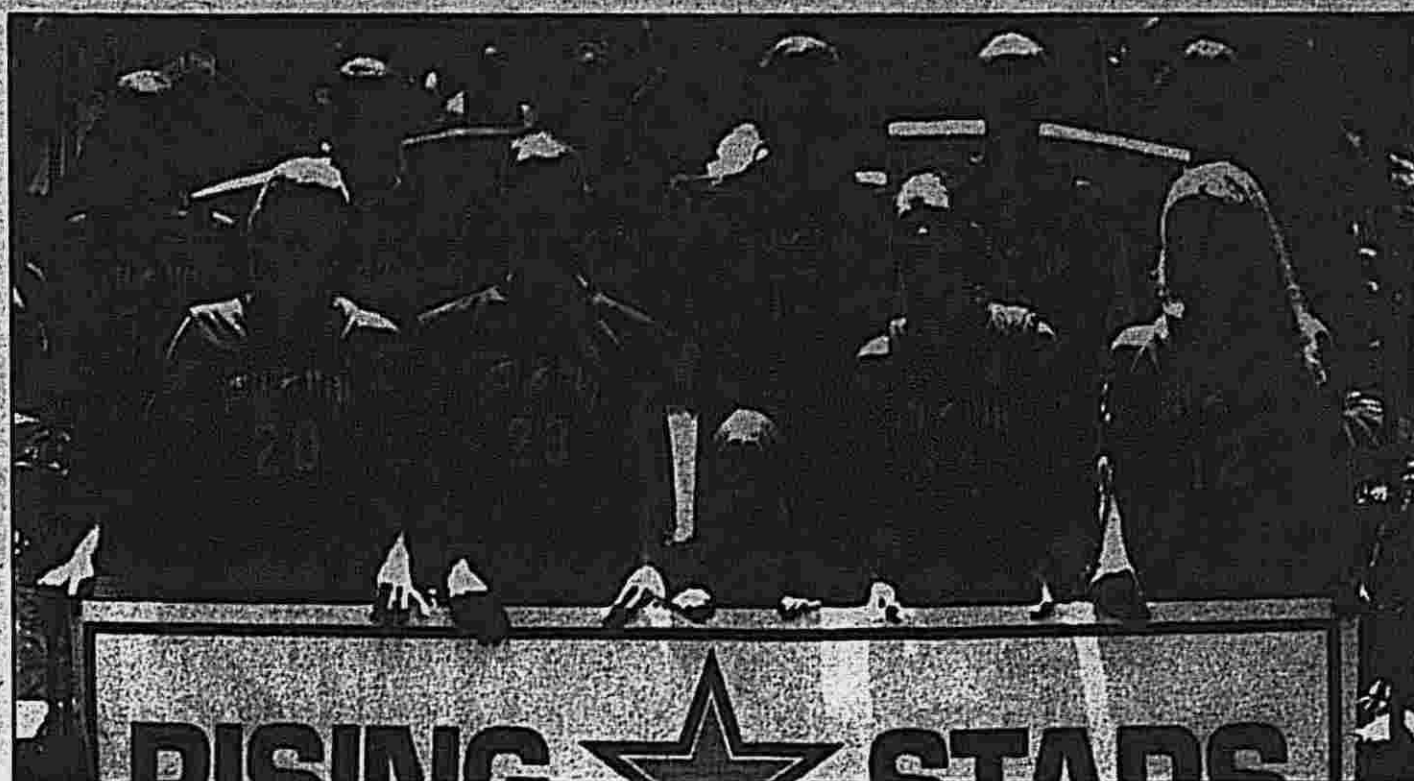

"The tournament really gave me a lot of confidence in my ability," said Jeremy. "I played better."

When asked if he would see playing time at the varsity level, Jeremy is unsure if he might make that jump as a sophomore, but will definitely give it a try.

On the prospects of the sophomore team, Jeremy is optimistic, but knows that one thing has to happen.

"We'll be pretty good, but we've got to put the ball in the net," said Jeremy. "We've had some trouble scoring goals."

But Jeremy shouldn't have much trouble preventing them.

Blarney's a Chain O'Lakes icon

By LEE FILAS
Staff Reporter

Sunken island a summer hot spot

Keyboards stopped humming. People stopped talking. There was dead silence.

"You've never heard of Blarney's?" repeated the co-worker tanned darker than any human with a desk job ever should be.

The stunning revelation only drew more stares in my direction. Yes, it was true, I had never heard of Blarney's Island.

"I can't believe you have never heard of Blarney's Island," the flabbergasted co-worker reiterated, eyes rolling and jaw hitting the floor. "It's only the biggest draw on the lake."

The gauntlet had been tossed. It was time to discover Blarney's Island.

The quest began Thursday. I set off in my "deathtrap," a bright blue 1990 Ford Mustang, which comes fully loaded with a broken taillight, a leak in the oil pan and brakes that grind every time I stop.

As I set off, I soon realized I had no idea where I was going. All I knew was that the bar was somewhere in Fox Lake.

Of course, being the male that I am, I knew I would find the way. Men always find the way. I assumed, however, there would be a sign. Not divine intervention mind you, but a road sign at least.

After driving in circles for another three hours, I decided to pull into a gas station. Not to ask directions, but rather because I needed gas.

"What do you mean 'How do you get to Blarney's?'" The gas station attendant said to me, dumbfounded.

"Get a boat."

Huh?

Pointing up Route 12 to State Park Road, he gave me directions to an area known as Port Of Blarney's.

"Start there, I'm sure you'll be able to find a ride out."

Route 12 to State Park Road, turn right on Grass Lake Road, one mile down on the right hand side.

Pulling into the huge parking lot at Port Of Blarney's, the icon-like element that is Blarney's escaped me. It's a bar, like any other bar, but not quite.

For that matter, why is it called "Blarney's Island?" There's no island, anywhere.

After feeling let down for the second that I stood there, a parking lot attendant walked up to me.

"You better hurry if you want to catch the next shuttle," He said to me, pointing at a contraption in the water that looked like a floating bus.

Taken aback, I looked from him, to the bus/boat, back to him. With a little push, he

Chain O'Lakes Fest this weekend

The Chain O'Lakes Recreation Authority will celebrate Chain O'Lakes Fest and Venetian Night celebration this weekend on the Chain O'Lakes. The event will feature a variety of activities in various locations on the Chain. The Chain O'Lakes Recreation Authority was organized last year and sponsors 66 bars and restaurants on the Chain. Its purpose is to bring tourism to the Chain.

"This is the first year of the Chain O'Lakes Fest," Scott Vetter, spokesperson of the recreation authority said. "It was designed to create an organization and events with the businesses on the water."

The Chain O'Lakes Recreation Authority is a non-for-profit organization, with all proceeds from the event going to one of three different charities including Cystic Fibrosis, Lamb's Farm and the Make-a-Wish Foundation.

According to Mike Curcio, one of the organizers of Chain O'Lakes Fest and owner of Borgata's Restaurant in Fox Lake, the fest begins Friday evening, Aug. 21, with games and prizes mingled in with raucous for everyone.

"Each bar will be holding their own start up festival," Curcio said. "There is going to be a Caribbean theme designed to welcome the fest to the area."

'Shenandoah' shines at Drury Lane

When tenor Bob Mason sings the mournful, hopeful "The Only Home I Know" during the second act of "Shenandoah," it's a beautiful, defining moment. It reminds one of the showstopper "Old Man River" in "Showboat."

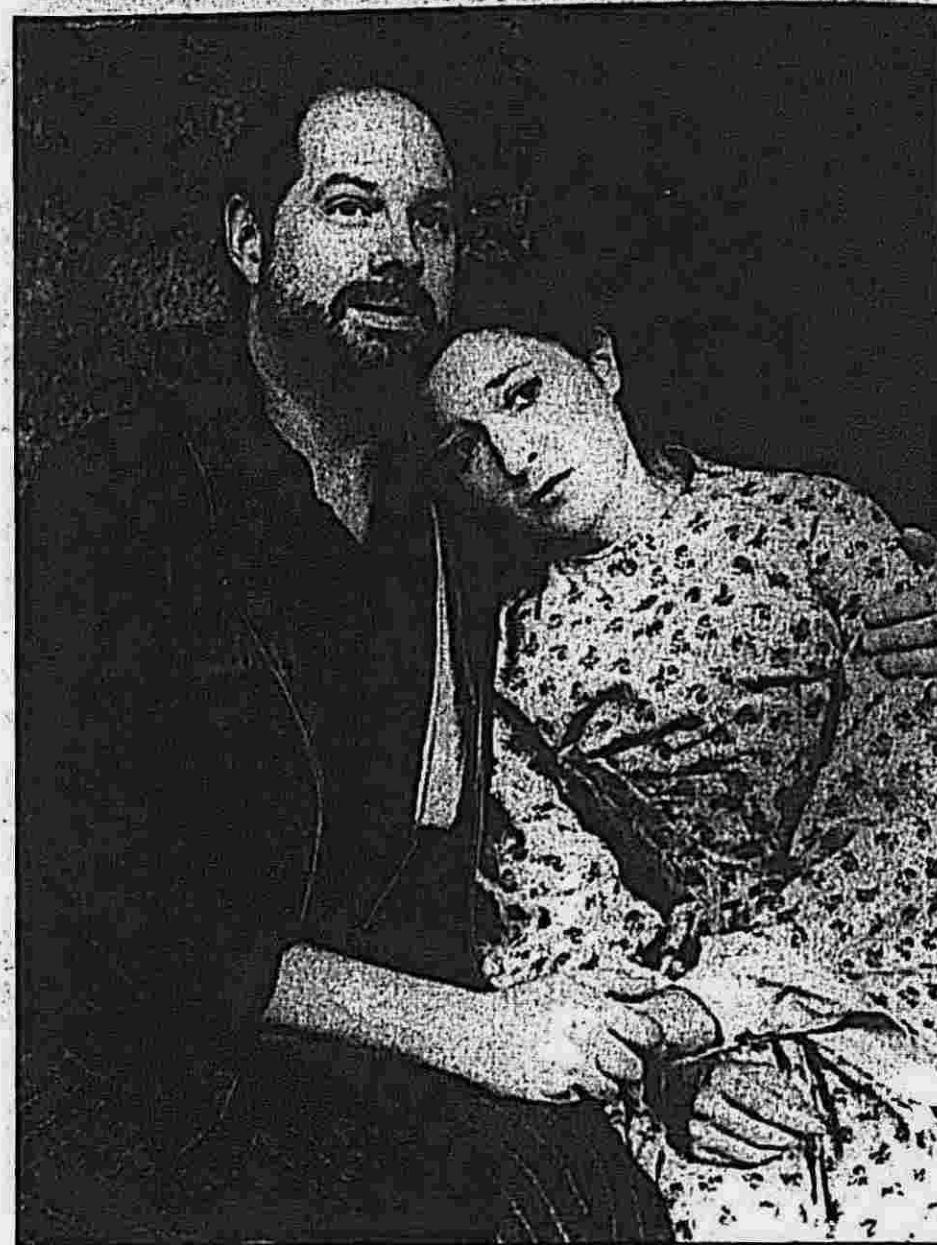

With the music by Gary Geld and Lyrics by Peter Udell, "Shenandoah" superbly captures the spirit of the American Civil War. It's co-directed at Drury Lane Oakbrook Terrace by Ray Frewen (who also has a lead role) and Gary Griffin.

The classy production, running through Sept. 27, is full of heart, which more than makes up for the lack of jazzy scenery and hummable tunes.

In his song, Mason pines for home from the battle front, longing for a return to the safe haven he once knew.

That safe haven is no more for the Andersons, a farming family headed by Charlie, a widower and six sons. They try to "sit out" the war between the Yankees and the Confederacy ("war is nothing but open season on strangers"). In the end, however, they are drawn in when his youngest son is abducted by soldiers.

Ray Frewen, as Charlie Anderson, has a tough row to hoe and it involves much more than mere farming. Cory Goodrich, as his daughter, shows spunk sensitivity. And the older sons—played by Jerry Galante, Richard Strimer, James Moyle, Brian Harriott and Kevin Barthel—delight in their rendition of "Next to Lovin' (I Like Fightin')." Admirable performances also come from the two youngest members of the cast, Adam Silver, as Robert Anderson, and Thurston D. Magill III as Gabriel, a young slave who wins his freedom.

"Shenandoah" represents one of Drury Lane Oakbrook Terrace's finest moments. Ticket information is available at (630) 530-0111.

BLARNEY'S: Chain Icon

sent me, the stunned reporter, on my way, mumbling something about "first timers."

"Ready to go out?" The shuttle driver mumbled, one foot on a boat that read "Blarney's Island Shuttle" on the side of it. "The boat is leaving."

I climbed in and sat down. I was clearly missing something, but I just couldn't put my finger on it. Surrounding me was water, we were in a boat/bus contraption, and we were moving pretty fast.

"Where are we going?" I asked the person next to me.

"Blarney's." The shuttle opened its engines just outside of the channel and raced to the middle of what seemed to be nowhere. In the center of the Fox Lake I saw it.

A large wooden structure, built in the middle of the lake loomed ahead of the shuttle like a floating city.

"It wasn't always like this," said John Haley, owner of Blarney's Island. "Blarney's was built on an island that sunk in the late 50s."

Boats lined the wood structure which was built on the submerged island. Now, the island rests three feet below the surface of the water.

The island was erected by John O'Connor, an Irishman who settled in the area, in the late 1800s.

"He named it Blarney's Island because the term blarney means BS," Haley said. "It means to tell a fib or a tall story. It fits."

As the water crashed in on the timbers that hold the bar above the surface, Haley spoke above the crowd lining the docks, telling the history of the floating city.

"My brother bought it from Bud Holtz in 1972. He was a former Antioch Township assessor," Haley said. "We've been here for over 25 years and the island has always been under water."

And, Haley says, the island has always been busy.

"It's been busy for as long as we've had it," Haley continues. "The chain has been busy forever."

It's amazing to think that a bar on the water, which takes a special watercraft to get to, is constantly busy.

"Constantly busy," Haley repeated.

On this night, as the hot sun poured down hard on the water, 30-plus boats were docked at Blarney's, all with high performance engines, testing and re-testing the engines.

Boat races are a main attraction at Blarney's.

"The boat races are always busy," Haley said. "The drivers follow strict rules and regulations for being on the water. They are professional guys."

Today, one of the professional guys, with a purple and green boat from Wonder Lake running pure alcohol rather than gasoline, self-destructed at the finish line in a tumbling whirlwind of water, engine and fiberglass.

No one was injured in the accident. The boat engine released from the boat and is now resting comfortably on the bottom of the Chain. The driver was taken from the water in special watercraft to shore and taken to the ambulance for precautionary reasons.

"We've had three accidents this year," Haley said. "This is just a bad year. We don't get any accidents usually. In fact, before this year, we didn't have one in four years."

Haley doesn't know what the circumstances for the high accident rate this year can be attributed to, but he does know one thing, it's not from drinking.

"As I said, we have rules and regulations that these guys have to follow," Haley said. "If any one of them is seen drinking on the island, they are banned from the island for life. The drivers don't want to risk that."

However, there are drinkers on the island.

"We are a bar," Haley said. "Of course there are drinkers."

Haley, however, doesn't like the boat drivers who drink.

"We make sure that there is a high amount of police presence around the island," Haley said.

The Lake County Sheriff's Department Marine Unit is the patrolling force on Fox Lake. They travel the waterways around Blarney's Island and are often times seen parked in boat lanes, pulling over possible intoxicated drivers. This is done in an effort to control drinking and driving on Fox Lake.

"No one wants an OUI, [operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol] so most boat drivers will not drink and drive," Haley said.

Haley says he is frustrated many people feel the intoxicated boaters they encounter have been guests at Blarney's Island.

"I try to stop the drivers from drinking. I have 20 security guards walking the island to stop underage drinkers and to stop people who are driving from drinking," Haley said. "You've never been to Blarney's?"

Smiling down at the people booing me, I can now honestly say, "Yes. Yes I have."

CHAIN FEST: Fun for all

On Saturday, festivities will kick off at noon on the chain area, with games and prizes and a carnival atmosphere in effect.

A water ski show on Bluff Lake will kick off the festivities in Antioch at 4 p.m., Saturday. The ski show can be best viewed from the Boardwalk or from the back porch of Jungle Joes. Both viewing areas are located on Bluff Lake Road in Antioch.

The next scheduled event is the Venetian Night Boat Parade, starting at the 100 Club, located on Route 12, at 8:30 p.m. The parade route will be on the Fox River, into Pistakee Bay, ending in Meyers Bay at Borgata's Restaurant.

At around 9:30 p.m., the Chain O'Lakes Recreational Authority will present a fireworks show over Meyers Bay. The fireworks will be visible in Meyers Bay as well as Pistakee Bay on the Chain.

"I want to thank the (Fox Lake) village board in helping us to make this event happen," Curcio said. "We are committed to working with the Lake County Police and the Fox Lake Police and Chief Gerretsen to make this event safe and successful for years to come."

The fireworks display will begin at 10 p.m. on Saturday and last nearly half an hour.

On Sunday, Aug. 23, the Chain O'Lakes Fest will wind up with more carnival type games and fun at all the sponsoring businesses on the water.

Additionally, a paddle boat will be given out as the grand prize in the raffle contest. An old fashioned bicycle will be issued to one lucky winner.

"The sponsors, Union Liquor Company, Judge and Dolph Liquor Company, The Seagrams Company and the others did a great job in helping us out this year," Curcio said. "They helped out a ton and the people should have a great time at the fest." — By Lee Filas & Ken Patchen

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

Don't get carried away when it comes to solving a problem, Aries. What you're doing is right, but this doesn't mean that you can resort to whatever means necessary to reach your goals. A loved one has a surprise for you. Don't be thrown by it. He or she means well.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Don't let your emotions get the best of you this week. There is a lot going on in your life, but you still have everyday tasks to do. Stay focused, and try to remain calm. Things will get better in a few days. That special someone is concerned about you. Don't shut him or her out.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

It's going to be a busy week, Gemini. However, that also means that it's going to be a quick week. It will be Friday before you know it, and you'll have plenty of time to relax. Spend some time with a close friend whom you haven't seen in a while. He or she really misses you.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

When it comes to a disagreement with a friend, you're the one who has to back down, Cancer. Don't let your stubbornness hurt this relationship. You two have been friends for too long to let it end this way. A co-worker wants to get to know you better. Say yes. Who knows? This could be the start of a wonderful relationship.

Leo — July 23/August 23

While you want to help your friends, don't forget to help yourself, Leo. You're just as important as everyone else, and you need a break too. Turn to your loved ones; they are there for you. You run into an old friend late in the week. Spend some time with him or her. You're sure to learn a lot.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

Don't make a hasty decision when it comes to your finances this week. Examine all of your options, and look at the pros and cons. You work too hard for your money. A loved one asks for your advice about a romantic situation. Listen to him or her and be supportive.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

A bad dream puts you in a terrible mood at the beginning of the week. Try to shake it off, Libra. It was just a dream. A close friend needs your help with a business venture. Don't get too involved until you learn all of the facts. You might be surprised at what you find out. Scorpio and Leo play important roles late in the week.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

Being too possessive only will cause you problems this week, Scorpio. Be generous when it comes to good friends and loved ones. A business associate needs your help with an important project. Try to help him or her. Your efforts will be noticed by your superiors. Aries plays a key role. Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

You have something very important to say early in the week. Don't let those around you stop you from speaking your mind. It will make you feel better and can solve a few problems too. A loved one puts you in the middle of a family argument. Don't get involved!

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

You have a unique opportunity to advance your career early in the week, Capricorn. Don't pass it up. Show everyone how capable you really are. A friend invites you on a small outing. Even though you don't want to go, say yes. A big surprise is in store for you.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

Be careful when it comes to business associates this week. They are trying to get you to take on extra responsibilities so that they don't have to. Examine things closely before agreeing to do anything. A loved one needs your input on a family event. Do what you can to help him or her out. Cancer plays a key role on Tuesday.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

No matter what you do this week, it seems that you just can't make any headway. Don't get discouraged. Keep working diligently, and do the best that you can. Things will be better by the end of the week. A close friend shares a secret with you.

Bale Throw is Kenosha Fair Tradition

Kenosha County Fair will be celebrating the 50s and 60s for the theme of the 1998 Fair. But a tradition grows with a familiar country summer event -- throwing bales of hay and straw. Bales will fly for the 11th year in a row in the Show and Sale Barn at the Annual Hay/Straw Bale Throw, following the 4H Dairy Show at the Fair. Preregistration begins at 1 p.m.

Four brackets for females and five for males allow people of all ages and abilities to take part. Winners in each bracket will be awarded Bale Throw medallions and cash prizes based on the number of entries. The brackets are as follows: male and female 9 and under, male and female 10-14, male and female 15-20, male and female 21 and over, and male 40 and over.

Entrants in 1997 ranged from 2 to 69 years of age. The longest distance overall was thrown by Robert Williams, Burlington, WI, wowing spectators with 34 feet 3 inches. Three year old Justen Peterson, Milwaukee, charmed the crowd with his two foot toss.

"The Bale Throw has become a real tradition at the Fair. It gives everyone - whether farmer or city dweller a chance to have a great time and perhaps take home a medal," says Joleen McMillin, president of Slades Corners Lucky Clovers 4H.

Slades Corners 4H club organizes the contest each year. Squire's Dog Haus, Kenosha-Racine Farm Bureau and Asboth Homes provide financial support. Join them at the Fair for the annual Bale Throw.

THEATRE

An Ode to Judy Blume

The Annoyance Theatre is proud to announce the opening of the newest production of 'What Every Girl Should Know...An Ode to Judy Blume', directed by Susan Messing. 'What Every Girl Should Know...An Ode to Judy Blume' is a satirical tribute that intertwines three of Judy Blume's most loved classics: 'Are You There, God?' 'It's me...Margaret, Deenie' and 'Forever', celebrating the angst and horror of puberty, crooked spines and first loves. The cast of 'What Every Girl Should Know'... consists of fifteen gifted comedic actors that have been brought together from stages all over Chicago. Performances are Aug. 21-Nov. 6 Fridays at 8:30. Admission is $10. For more information and comps, call Jonathan Browning at The Annoyance Theatre 3747 North Clark Street, (773) 929-6200 www.anoynance.com.

'The Invisible Dragon'

The Cultural Arts Division of the Waukegan Park Dist. announces the Kids Play production of 'The Invisible Dragon' on Oct. 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Bowen Park, Waukegan. Written by Patricia Clapp and directed by Margaret Schultz, this delightful musical tells of a kingdom where all is happy, that is everyone except the Princess. A Prince, on his quest to find a dragon, meets the Princess and the King learns that the Princess is always gloomy because she is missing one important thing...love. The King decides to keep the Prince around the kingdom by creating an invisible dragon for the Prince to pursue. The play ends happily with the joining of the Prince and Princess in marriage. Reservations are necessary and can be made by calling the Jack Benny Center for the Arts at 360-4741. Tickets are $4.00 a person. For more information, please contact Rik Covalinski, Performance Supervisor at 360-4741 at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in Bowen Park, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Waukegan 60087.

Theatre auditions

The Waukegan Community Players Children's Theatrical Group will hold auditions for their Christmas production of 'The Best Christmas Pageant Ever' by Barbara Robinson. Auditions will be held at the Lilac Cottage in Waukegan on Saturday, Aug. 29 from 1 to 3 p.m. and Aug. 30 from 1 to 3 p.m. No appointments—auditions will be held on a first-come, first-serve basis. Roles for two men, six women, nine girls and eight boys are sought. These are all speaking roles and require some singing. No pay. Rehearsals will be held in Waukegan and show dates are Dec. 3, 4 & 5 during the day. For directions or more information, call 356-1445 or 360-1336.

'The Meeting'

Bowen Park Theatre Company will hold auditions for Jeff Stetson's play 'The Meeting' on Dec. 5 and 6 from 1-4 p.m. at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr., just off N. Sheridan Rd., in Waukegan. Call backs are scheduled from Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. 'The Meeting' will be directed by guest director Debrah Neal.

Needed are three black male actors to portray Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Malcolm X, and Rashad, Malcolm X's bodyguard. Production dates are Feb. 5, 6, 12, 13 at 8 p.m. and Feb. 7 and 14 at 3 p.m. There is a possibility of an additional run out performance.

'The Meeting' is about a fictitious meeting between the two great civil rights activists, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Malcolm X. It is poignant, witty, sometimes humorous, and catches the spirits of these two historic figures. Because the length of the play is just over one hour, additional materials will be used by the actors before the actual play.

Auditions will be by appointment only and actors are asked to call 360-

Reefs, Ruins, Jaguars and Jungles

by JIM WARREN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

We've all heard of those primitive tropical paradises undiscovered by tourists. But usually they've been well-discovered by the time we find out about them, or they're halfway around the world and well out of our budget.

Guess what. If you hurry, there's one only 750 miles from Miami. In fact, if you've been to Cancun, you were almost there.

I'm referring to the country of Belize. If that name doesn't sound like any that appeared on your high school geography test, it's because Belize was known as British Honduras until 1981.

Let's get the boring facts out of the way first. Belize is located just below the Yucatan peninsula of Mexico on the Caribbean coast of Central America. It's a member of the British Commonwealth and as such, it is the only English speaking country in Central America, though you're liable to hear Maya, Carifuna and even Creole also spoken.

Belize has not been totally devoid of outside visitors. Many scuba divers have enjoyed its unspoiled 175 mile long barrier reef, second only to Australia's, and the mysterious "Blue Hole", a large crater in the ocean floor.

Recently eco-tourism has also become popular in Belize, and with good reason. Belize is a country that long ago decided to preserve the beauty of its primitive jungles and rain forests and the rare animals that inhabit them.

Belize has the only jaguar preserve in the world which, besides jaguars, is the home of pumas, ocelots and over 290 species of birds. Its black howler monkey sanctuary is actually on privately owned farmland where the owners have voluntarily agreed to let stand fruit trees from which the monkeys feed. Belize even has a reserve set aside as a butterfly breeding ground.

Once the center of the mighty Mayan empire, Belize has no shortage of Mayan ruins. In Cancun, you may have taken a tourist bus to visit the Mayan ruins Tulum. To get to the magnificent Mayan site of Lamanai in Belize, you'll board a boat and travel up a clear jungle river.

You'll find no discos or Holiday Inns in Belize. However, if quaint Spanish colonial-style cottages and guest houses meet your needs, Belize will do just fine.

Neither rain, nor snow, nor fear of cooties

Years before my daughter came into my life, I could only guess at what raising a girl would be like. And after giving birth to three consecutive boys, I felt sure I'd never find out. But just in case, I read all the feminist literature about making sure we raise our children equally, and encouraging them to pursue their dreams, regardless of their gender.

When the "miracle" happened and I finally gave birth to a little girl, I felt prepared. I was going to teach my daughter to believe she can be anything she wants.

Apparently, I must be doing something wrong. Oh, she believes she can be anything she wants, all right — but what she wants is a HUSBAND. Now. And she is determined to personally inspect all suitable candidates (i.e. male).

She began her search with her 9-year-old brother, but soon discovered that not only was he unwilling, he could outrun her on a regular basis. A bright girl, she quickly realized "ya can't marry 'em if ya can't catch 'em!"

Next, she moved on to her cousin, Joey, who's older than her brother, but a little slower moving. Joey, a patient and practical sort, kept informing her that he is a relative and hence, unavailable.

It took a while, but she at last understands this. At least we think she does, because now she first asks every male she meets if they're a relative. If they are, she informs them she cannot marry them, shrugging her shoulders as if to say, "Sorry, bud. I don't make the rules."

The bad part is that she now considers the rest of the male population fair game. And with three brothers multiplied by several friends each, she has ample opportunities to search for new marriage candidates.

For example, my oldest son is working at Great America as a caricature artist this summer, and another artist boards overnight at our house a few nights a week, in exchange for driving my son to work. This artist, named Michael, may soon regret this arrangement, now that he has discovered our house is infested with leeches. One, actually.

As Michael attempted to walk around our kitchen at breakfast recently, he had to drag with him a fifty pound, giggling leech that had attached herself to his arm and shirt. Ignoring my requests that she leave him alone, we finally had to physically remove her and put her in the "time-out chair" so that the poor guy could sit down and eat.

As she sat in the chair, I tried to explain to her that she can't keep on pawing strange men she doesn't even know. I told her, "Michael is much older than you. Besides, you don't even know his last name."

She thought about that for a while, and when her time-out was over, she demurely approached Michael and said, "So, Michael - what's your last name?" Great, I thought - she listened!

Well...sort of. As soon as he answered her, she figured the formalities were now complete and re-attached herself to him like a strip of human Velcro.

Later that same day, I took the kids swimming at my friend Jamie's house on the lake. They were soon joined in the water by Jamie's eighth-grade son, Michael (there must be something about that name).

My daughter zeroed in on the "new Michael" immediately, and began chasing him through the water, yelling, "C'mere! I just want to hug you! I just want to kiss you!" This went on for several minutes until finally I told her to stop bothering him and explained, once again, that it wasn't nice to try to hug and kiss people you don't know.

It worked. She stopped her chasing. And when Michael, who'd been hiding underwater, eventually came up for air, she didn't go after him.

Instead, she put her hands on her hips, batted her eyes and called out to him, "So, Michael...what have you been doing all your life?" Michael never did answer, or if he did, I didn't hear him - I was too busy banging my head on a piece of driftwood.

That's when I realized that, despite my daughter's tender age, it was time to teach her the facts of life.

"So you see, honey, the reason girls should not touch boys is because they have invisible bug germs on them called COOTIES!"

She looked at me for a moment, puzzled. Then she asked, "Does Daddy have cooties, too?"

"No, honey," I told her, "only boys who aren't relatives."

She didn't say anything after that, but I could almost see the wheels turning in her head.

I'm not getting my hopes up, though. It wouldn't surprise me a bit if tomorrow morning she comes downstairs wearing gloves.

'The Avengers' tries hard but falls flat

Let me preface this review by saying that I never had the privilege of seeing "The Avengers" television series. I am of a younger breed, labeled generation X. That

movie review

being said, I had none of the nostalgia that many moviegoers may have, but I really did want to like this movie.

I like the idea of a highly stylized, James Bond mixed with a pinch of comic book campiness-type of secret agent duo fighting super villains in England.

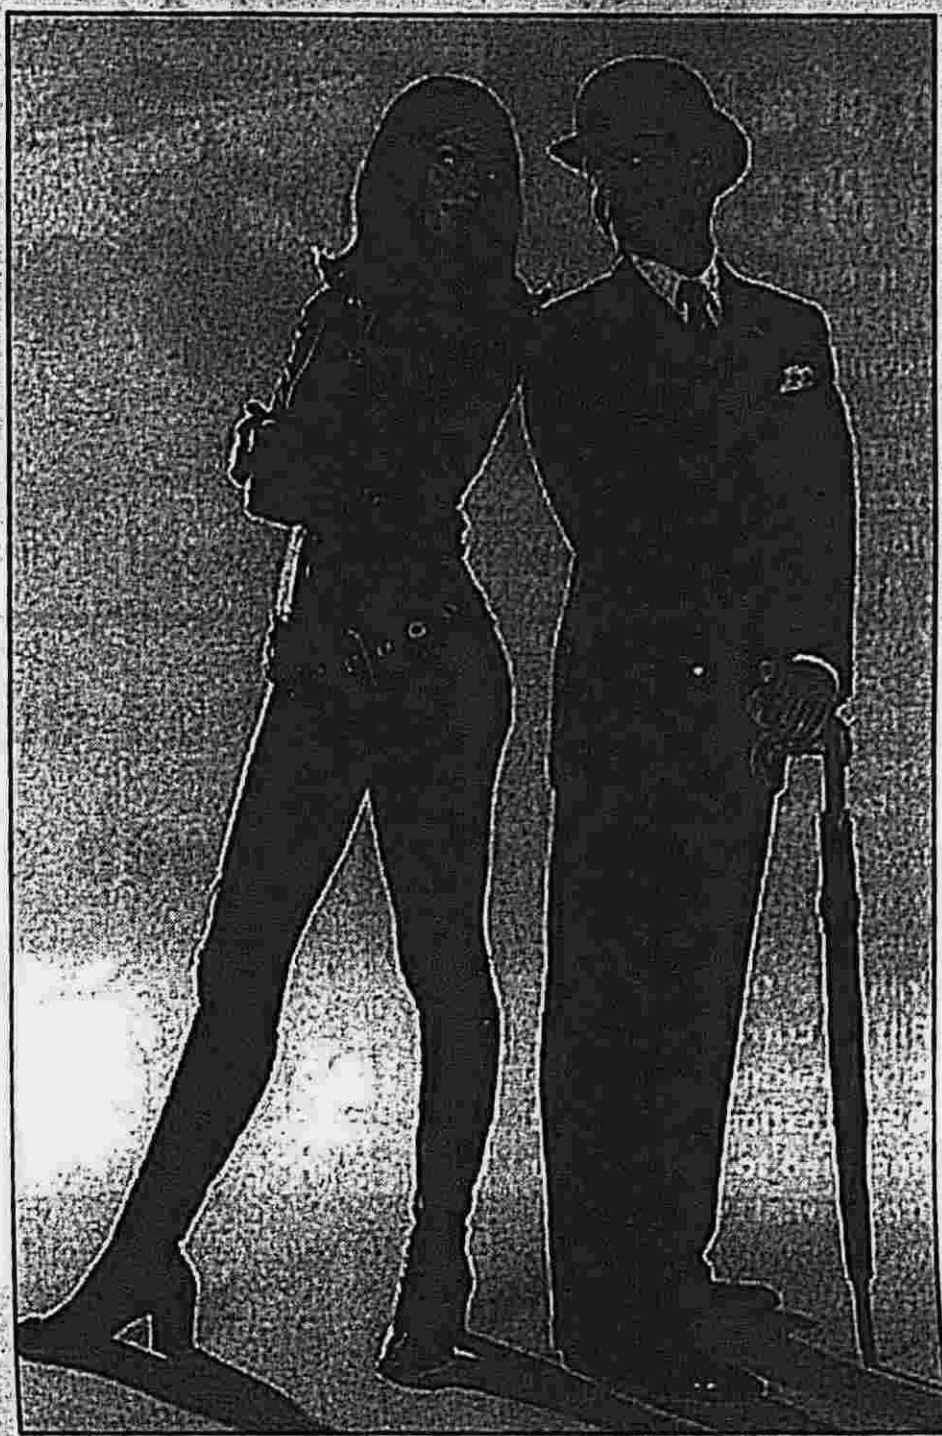

I like the work of Uma Thurman. I enjoy Ralph Fiennes. I, like everyone else in the world, love Sean Connery. But "The Avengers" is a bad movie.

Thurman and Fiennes play Emma Peel and John Steed, the two agents of The Ministry made popular in the '60s TV show.

Peel is a witty scientist who enjoys going outside the lines and was once a part of The Prospero Project—a weather control system for Great Britain. Steed is a prim and proper active agent for The Ministry, who excels at hand-to-hand combat and always plays by the rules.

Thurman pulls off a surprisingly believable English accent, but her biggest contribution to the film was wearing the '60s style skintight leather catsuit. Her performance is fair, but her character never develops.

Fiennes also does a serviceable job as Steed, but doesn't quite have the swagger or style that the character requires. His character, again, is not developed enough.

The dangerous duo is out to stop Dr. August Winter, played less-than-convincingly by Connery, who is building a weather-changing machine and threatens to freeze England unless the powers that be purchase weather from him.

Throughout the film the audience is bombarded by poor attempts at campy humor, playing off the '60s style that is rammed down the audience's throat.

Compared to the recent '60s-era comedy "Austin Powers," "The Avengers" misses the mark completely.

Based on mediocre acting, a miserable plot, a terrible script with little or no character development, and a failed attempt at humor, I give "The Avengers" two out of five popcorn boxes.

I would have given it a lower mark, but the quasi-futuristic and '60s-style sets and costumes caught my eye, plus I give Thurman, Fiennes and Connery the benefit of the doubt for getting sucked into a bad movie.

Proper nutrition adds to success in school

As millions of school children head back to the classroom, parents have two lessons of their own to learn: 1) why their kids may not be eating what is packed in their lunches, and 2) the correlation between good nutrition and strong academic performance.

"A healthy, well-balanced lunch can help your child's mental acuity and alertness," said Ann Louise Gittleman, M.S., certified nutrition specialist. "But, that's only if they eat that well-balanced meal."

Lesson one: The lunch packed is not always the lunch eaten

According to a May/June 1998 study by Wirthlin Worldwide, almost half of children surveyed trade lunch items at least once or twice a week, with nearly 10 percent trading every day. When kids were asked why they trade lunch items, most said that they didn't like their own lunch or were bored with the same items. Many kids view trading as an important social activity, a ritual or a game.

With kids trading and discarding various items in their lunches, from sandwiches and fruit to milk and snacks, it is difficult to guarantee a well-balanced meal and preparedness for a day of learning. While there are no guarantees children will eat their lunch, by incorporating the following tips into the brown-bagging routine, parents may deter kids from trading lunch items away:

- Common sense tells us that if children don't eat something at home, most likely they won't eat it at school. Let your kids help pack the lunch and identify nutritious foods they like and will eat.

- Vary the items you pack in their lunches — such as a sandwich one day, and macaroni and vegetable salad the next.

- Use different breads for sandwiches such as pita, rolls or hot dog buns; cut the sandwiches with a cookie cutter to make them more visually appealing and fun.

- Don't deny your children snacks, because they'll get them another way. Instead of cookies or chips, try a healthy treat, such as Balance Bars, that will satisfy that craving.

- Encourage kids to eat colorful vegetables by including a tasty dip. Vegetables pack a powerful nutrition punch because they are loaded with vitamins, minerals, phytonutrients and fiber.

- Add color and a little sweetness to lunch with delicious fruit. Remember, at least five servings of fruits and vegetables are recommended daily.

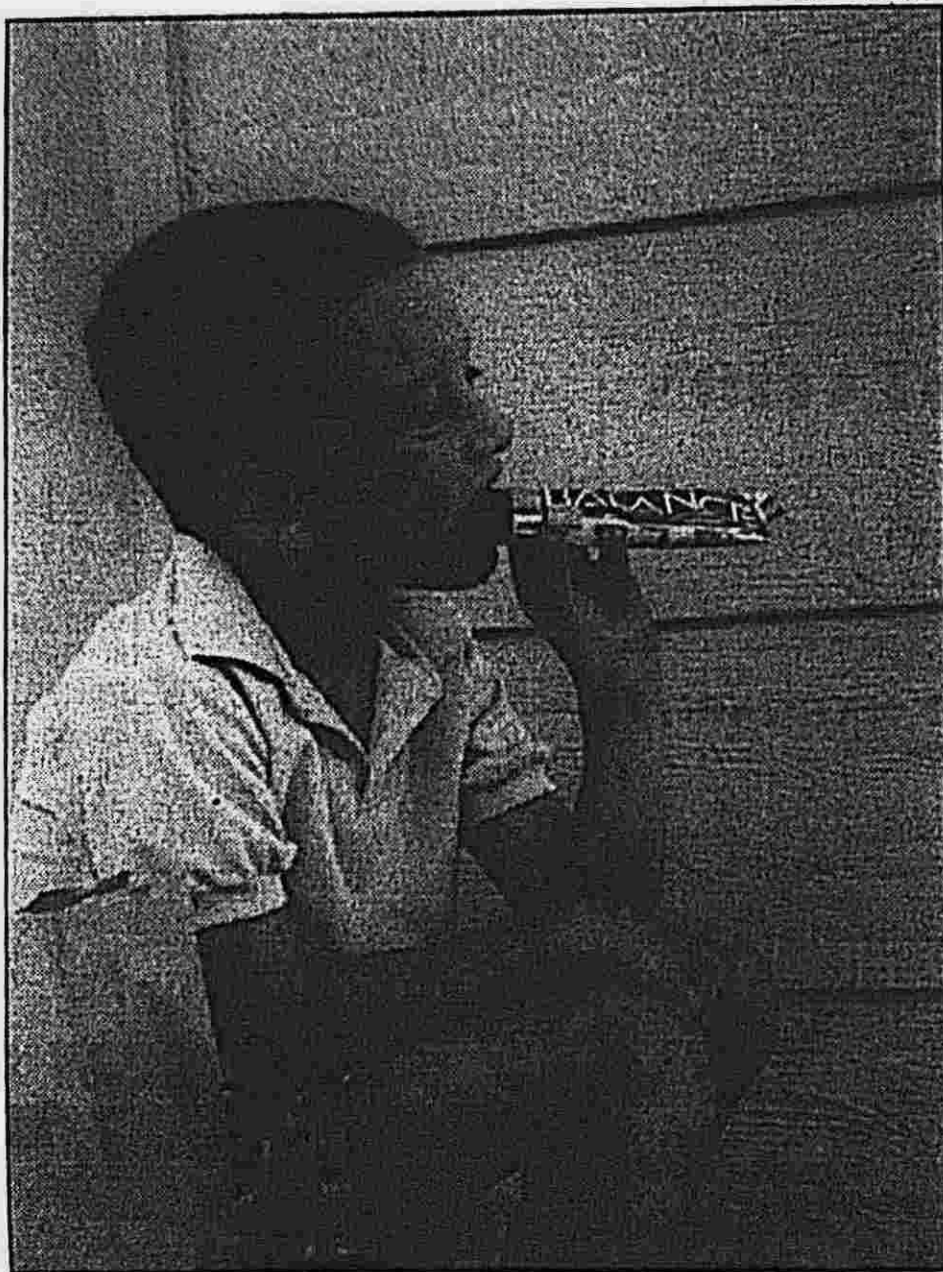

- Set a good example for your children by eating healthy, well-balanced meals yourself.

"I recommend Balance Bars as part of a school lunch because they are a more nutritious alternative to junk food snacks and taste great," states Gittleman. Balance Bars are a delicious addition to any school lunch, and are a terrific source of nutrition and vitamins. With 10 exciting flavors, such as Yogurt Honey Peanut, Almond Butter Crunch and Banana Coconut, there is sure to be a variety to meet each child's particular tastes. The new Mini Balance Bar, an ideal snack size, comes in three delicious and popular flavors — Almond Brownie, Chocolate and Honey Peanut. Although mini bars are not a meal replacement, Balance Bars are also great for kids who skip breakfast or need an additional energy boost between class and after-school sports or school and dinner.

Lesson Two: The importance of good nutrition

Nearly all parents (95 percent) surveyed by Wirthlin Worldwide say they are careful about monitoring the nutritional value of their children's lunches. But fewer parents (only 36 percent) say there is a strong connection between what their child eats for lunch and his or her academic performance. Recent research from Tufts University confirms the link between nutrition and cognitive development in children.

According to the university's study on severely undernourished children, "Even nutritional deficiencies of a relatively short-term nature influence children's behavior, ability to concentrate, and to perform complex tasks."

Parents interested in healthy alternatives to cakes and cookies can pack a nutritional "punch" in school lunches with snacks such as Balance Bars.

"If a child skips breakfast, or does not have a nutritious lunch, that day's test scores may suffer," says Gittleman. "Surely, if parents fully understood the impact food has on their children's school work, they would more carefully plan lunch, supply breakfast in the morning, and have healthy snacks throughout the day."

"Parents should talk with their kids about the importance of good nutrition," Gittleman continues. "It is essential that children understand not just what they should do, but why they should do it."

Good nutrition helps with school performance by stabilizing blood sugar levels. "Benefits of a stable blood sugar include extended energy and balanced moods, which can also impact a child's ability to perform well in school," concludes Gittleman.

Sen. Terry Link sponsors a 'Safe Place' for state appropriation funding

Nothing would make Sen. Terry Link, D-Vernon Hills, happier than for A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center, not to be needed. "The ultimate goal," said Link, "will be reached when there is no reason for A Safe Place to exist." In other words, when domestic violence is no longer a problem in our communities. But until that time, Link said he is committed to seeing that the shelter and crisis center that serves victims of domestic violence and their children in communities throughout Lake, McHenry and northern Cook counties has sufficient funding to do the best job possible dealing with a horrific problem.

Link's support of a Safe Place led him to sponsor a proposal to appropriate $100,000 in new, one-time funding from the State's 1999 budget. "I take my hat off what A Safe Place has done," said Link, noting that he has personally known victims of domestic violence and victims that have found hope for the future along with safety at the shelter and crisis center.

"The availability of these funds," said A Safe Place's Executive Director

Phyllis DeMott, "will enable A Safe Place to enhance the quality of our services to victims and to increase our outreach into the community." She noted that while the general operating budget is spread very thin as demands for services for victims of domestic violence increase, the unexpected funding will allow three areas of needs to be addressed.

For some time, the crisis center has needed funding for childcare for women who are attempting to build a new life of safety for themselves and their children. Many of these women must find employment, affordable housing and permanent childcare before they can leave shelter. Funding that will allow A Safe Place to pay for childcare slots while a woman is attending various appointments may make the difference in her success at pulling these various aspects of her life together.

The new funds will allow A Safe Place to improve its outreach to the Latina community as brochures and other materials finally are made available in Spanish. The agency will also be advertising its services for the first time in a PACE bus campaign during National Domestic Violence Awareness Month in October.

A last area of need that funds will be directed toward is replacement and addition of shelter furniture and equipment, including beds and living area furniture. The shelter recently expanded its capacity from 30 to 35 beds to address increased demand for shelter.

"We are so grateful to Senator Link for his support of A Safe Place," said DeMott. "We are continually challenged to meet increasing demands as well as to expand our scope of outreach to victims of domestic abuse throughout our area. This funding will go a long way toward meeting some of those challenges."

In addition to shelter, A Safe Place operates a 24-hour crisis line and provides court advocacy, individual and group counseling, children's counseling, and prevention and community education programs for the communities in Lake, McHenry and northern Cook counties. Women in need of assistance from A Safe Place can call the 24-hour HELP LINE at (847) 249-4450, TTY (847) 249-6557 seven days a week.

Lake County Animal Control seeks input on stray problems

The Lake County Health Department Animal/Rabies Control Program is seeking input from the community regarding areas that are having problems with stray animals. In areas of County jurisdiction, animal wardens can provide early morning and evening patrols for stray animals, in addition to their normal patrols. In addition, in areas not under County jurisdiction, Animal/Rabies Control staff can refer the case to the appropriate agency, or assist your municipality in dealing with the nuisance.

The Lake County Animal/Rabies Control Ordinance requires that all dogs and cats be currently vaccinated for rabies and registered. In addition, all pets are required to have a rabies tag attached to their collar at all times as proof of their vaccination status.

Residents wanting to report stray problems can call the Animal/Rabies Control Program at 949-9925.

Lake County clerk staff trained on paternity program

Three staff members in the Vital Records Department of the Lake County Clerk's office were trained recently by the Illinois Departments of Public Health and Public Aid on legally establishing paternity for children of unwed parents. Supervisor Linda Wright and Clerks Todd Govain and Ivette Diaz attended the seminar, on the Hospital Opportunity for Paternity Establishment (HOPE), Voluntary Acknowledgment of Paternity program and the Paternity Establishment Program.

Establishing paternity is an important step in obtaining financial aid for the child and counseling for both parents. Children of unwed parents with established paternity can receive benefits such as Social Security, disability and inheritance rights. Since the program began in 1993, HOPE has assisted in establishing more than 43,134 legal parent/child relationships. Legislation passed in 1996 extended the program to include county clerks, state registers and all hospitals which run birthing units. Parents can obtain necessary forms at the local clerk's or register's office which may be witnessed by the clerk or register.

Legislation enacted in 1998 further builds on the program by providing that parents must be given oral and written explanations of their legal rights and responsibilities when establishing paternity.

Willard Helander, Lake County Clerk, is enthusiastic about the program, commenting, "Once parents understand the tremendous advantages of legally established parenthood for a child, the majority don't hesitate to at least learn more about the issues involved. The protection of a child's rights is an important responsibility of county clerks through our participation in the national I-SEARCH program and protecting against the misuse of birth records. Our office is eager to keep updated on such programs to ensure the safety and rights of children."

Christmas in August

Willard Janke and Lorraine Reum, at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, Lindenhurst, work on Christmas decorations for the annual Festival of Arts and Crafts. The festival is scheduled for the first Saturday of December at Victory Lakes. Funds raised at the craft fair are used to provide special events and field trips for residents at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center. Craftsmen are invited to call 356-5900 for booth information.

YMCA to offer Sexually Transmitted Disease Education

The YWCA of Lake County is offering free seminars for girls ages 12-21. This abstinence based education curriculum is called "Sex Can Wait." "Sex Can Wait" teaches self affirmation skills and encourages proactive decision making. This program has been made possible through a community investment grant from United Way of Lake County.

The primary goal of the program is to teach positive decision making skills and goal planning in order to delay sexual activity and encourage abstinence. To prepare teens for a healthy, successful future. For more information and to schedule a seminar at your church or organization call Teen Outreach Coordinator, Rochelle Hanna at the YWCA 662-4247.

Lake Forest Hospital welcomes new vice president/chief financial officer

James F. Wuellner has joined Lake Forest Hospital as vice president/chief financial officer & treasurer at Holy Family Medical Center, Des Plaines, IL. He has also had CFO responsibilities at Norwegian American Hospital, Chicago, and St. Joseph Hospital Care Center, Chicago.

"Jim has strong skills in accounting and finance," said Lake Forest Hospital President and CEO

William G. Ries. "He understands what it takes to deliver quality, cost-effective care, and has sophisticated knowledge in all aspects of managed care and hospital finance, both of which allow Lake Forest Hospital to bring the very best value to our patients."

Wuellner received his master of science degree in Management from Northwestern University's Kellogg School of Business, Chicago, has bachelor of science degree in accounting from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign, IL, and he is a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) in IL. Wuellner recently received one of two Cain Brothers National Awards for Leadership in Financial Management for creating a financing plan to provide capital for Holy Family Medical Center's continued facility expansion. He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants, and is an advanced member of the Healthcare Financial Management Association.

HOME & GARDEN

B12 / Lakeland Newspapers

August 21, 1998

Harvest time is beginning

Just came in from picking my crops in the garden. Tomatoes are really coming ripe, now. I picked a bucket of green beans, cucumbers and zucchini, that are in their prime. The tomatoes that I grew from seed that I saved from my favorite tomato plants last season, are doing well. I grew Romas (not from my seed) and they have taken to wilt, the humidity and rain of late must be the culprit. I will have to grow a different variety of plus tomato next year, I'll check for one that is disease resistant. Once mildew has infected the plants, though there is not much that can be done. I pruned off the infected leaves (by the way never compost diseased plant material). If you composted them, they can infect your soil next year. Instead burn all diseased plants, or destroy them. If my Romas do not improve soon, I will pull the plants and destroy them, so as not to infect the entire garden.

If you have an over abundance of tomatoes you can put them up rather easily. The quickest method is to freeze them. I prefer canning (I believe the flavor is better) but if you are pressed for time freezing is a good alternative. The tomatoes should be thoroughly ripe. There are two techniques for freezing. One is to freeze them uncooked, either whole or cut into pieces. The other is to cook the tomatoes into a simple sauce and then freeze it. Fresh frozen tomatoes must be drained of water before adding them to soups or sauces. A frozen cooked tomato releases less water than one frozen fresh. Unripe green tomatoes will freeze, but will have a mushy texture when thawed.

GARDEN JOURNAL

Do not store tomatoes in the refrigerator unless they are near spoiling or have broken skins. It affects their flavor. If for some reason you must, be sure to allow them to warm to room temperature, before serving. Place unripe tomatoes not touching, on a sunny windowsill or in a warm spot to ripen. Store ripe ones in a well-ventilated basket or bowl checking daily for spoilage.

If you grow your own tomatoes, here is technique that could give you fresh tomatoes long after the plants are pulled out of the ground. Before the first frost hang the whole plant ripe and unripe tomatoes alike upside down in a cool, dark place.

The tomatoes will ripen slowly, I tried this method last year with great results. I was surprised—we were enjoying tomatoes well into November.

Until next time, peace.

Be Careful When Cleaning House

One Man's Trash Is Another Man's Treasure

You could be tossing out a small fortune when you clean house.

"No, dust bunnies aren't worth their weight in gold," says author Tony Hyman, "but before taking a shovel to your kid's room, consider that at least 50 toys from the 1960s and '70s are worth $1,000 or more today."

Jeanne, an "over 30" mother of three in Paso Robles, Calif., reported, "When my son left for college, I put a big bag of GI Joe® stuff out for the trashman. What does a college kid need with soldiers? Too late, I learned I could have gotten $500 each for seven of those dolls." Action figures aren't the only hot kids' collectibles. Your daughter's $4,000 Barbie® from 1964 could pay college tuition, and plastic models of Godzilla and Frankenstein from 1966 can put a grand apiece in your pocket.

Trashy trinkets of childhood that you can convert to cash include marbles, cap guns, cereal boxes, cartoon-character glasses, Disneyland souvenirs, electric trains, rock 'n' roll posters, lunch boxes, balloon-tire bicycles, radio and television premiums, board games, and sets of plastic cowboys, knights and space figures.

Toys may not be your only household treasures. Beer mugs, pocket knives, fishing tackle, ball gloves, musical instruments, briar pipes, old toasters and typewriters, war souvenirs, transistor radios, calculators, Hummel® figurines, 78- and 33-rpm phonograph records — even old black cast-iron frying pans — will shock you with their current value.

At least a dozen fountain pens and perfume bottles worth $5,000 turn up in yard sales each year, but having something valuable doesn't mean anything unless you also know who wants to buy it at a fair price. There's only one good buyer of cigar boxes in the country, and people who want sewing machines, BB guns and long-playing recordings of show tunes can be equally hard to find.

Syndicated antiques columnist Anita Gold praised Hyman for putting $80,000,000 in people's pockets by introducing them to folks ready to pay cash for everything from stuffed armadillos to zeppelin parts.

The latest 640-page edition of Trash or Treasure Directory of Buyers, his who's who of the top 1,200 collectibles buyers in the United States and Canada, is available by mail. Send $29.95, plus $5 shipping and handling, to Trash or Treasure, Box 3028-CM, Pismo Beach, Calif. 93448. Visa/MC customers can call toll free 1-800-549-7500. Give the name of this newspaper when you order, and you also will receive The World's Most Accurate Price Guide and a 30-day money-back guarantee with your book at no charge.

The best buyers may live many miles from you, which is why Hyman teaches you how to sell by mail. It's easy, as long as you describe your items carefully, make a photo or Xerox® copy, and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"The old saying about one man's trash being another man's treasure has never been more true," says Hyman.

"Something as simple as a plastic PEZ® candy dispenser is worth $400 to one person and 10 cents to another," Hyman points out, "and a 1966 Hot Wheels® Volkswagen toy can be worth twice as much as the real car to the right buyer."

Amateur gardeners host 38th Flower, Garden Show

Event Aug. 28, 29 in Libertyville

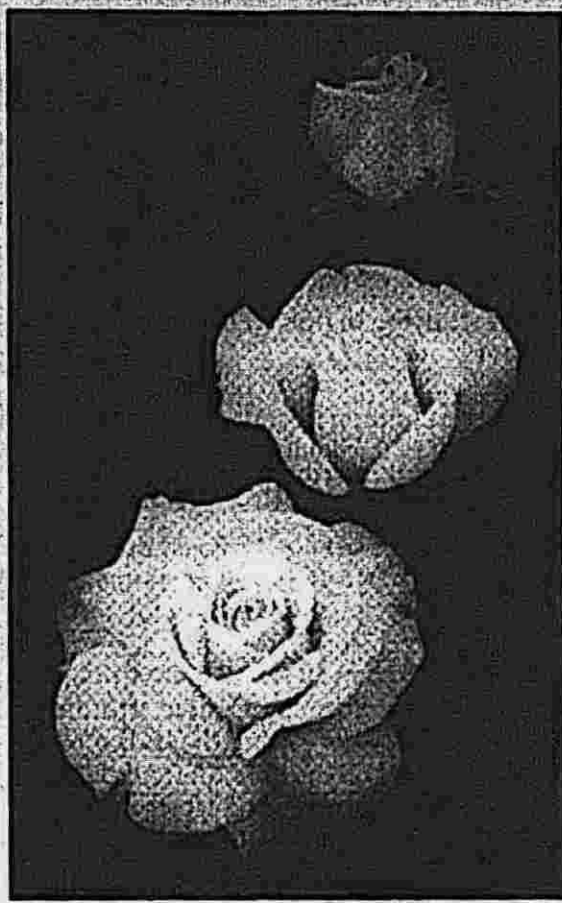

Amateur gardeners can enter their home grown flowers and vegetables in the 38th Annual Flower and Garden Show hosted by the Gardeners of Central Lake County on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 29 and 30, at the Civic Center in Libertyville.

"Nearly any type of flower or vegetable that someone is growing in his or her backyard is a potential winner," said Betty Mekemson Chan, secretary of the Gardeners of Central Lake County. "You need not be an expert to enter. If you have something that looks good to you, bring it in for the show."

House plants and terrariums are also welcome entries. The show has categories for both foliage and blooming container plants. You may enter that hanging basket or large container plant which you have on your porch. "Entering is really easy," said Susan Plasz, a club member. "You don't have to have a scientific name for your plant, common names are fine and if you don't know the name, club members will help you. We all help each other."

The most important elements in winning a prize are freshness, overall pleasing appearance, and the similarity of the specimens within a group in terms of size, color and shape. Medium sized vegetables and cut flowers are generally entered in groups of three. Large varieties are entered individually while smaller varieties may require six to 12 specimens. Container plants are entered individually. "Often people are unsure how many specimens they need to bring to the show and Jerry Cleland can help them with that information," said Plasz. Entry forms, rules and tips on preparing plants for the show are available now by calling Show Chairman Jerry Cleland at 566-6409. "We even have special categories for children who garden, so the whole family can enter something and have fun together," said Cleland.

Entries will be accepted on Friday evening, Aug. 28, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and Saturday morning, Aug. 29, from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the Libertyville Civic Center, 135 Church Street, one block west of Milwaukee Avenue (Route 21). After all of the ribbons have been awarded, the show will open to the entrants and the general public on Saturday, Aug. 29, from 2 to 5 p.m., and on Sunday, Aug. 30 from 1 to 4 p.m. Awards will be given at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 30.

The Gardeners of Central Lake County is a group of nearly 60 women and men, from Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills and other communities. All the members share a love of gardening. "We have members with a wide variety of interests," said Plasz. "My husband Andy specializes in roses and Jerry Cleland specializes in orchids." Another member, Phyllis Mohler, teaches classes on perennials and bulbs for the Mundelein High School Adult Education Program. Phyllis also has a terrific perennial garden. Many of the members, including master gardener John Mansnerus, have wonderful vegetable gardens.

"I'm interested in organic gardening," said Ann Damianow. "I'm a strong believer in raw living food for optimal health because it's rich in enzymes, vitamins and minerals."

Three members of the club, Phyllis

Mohler, John Mansnerus and Jerry Cleland are nationally accredited flower show judges. The membership ranges from the knowledgeable to the novice and lots of great gardening tips get passed around.

"Whether you enter or not, the Flower and Garden Show is a fun way to learn more about gardening and get good ideas for next season. You can combine a trip to the show with a visit to the Rose Garden our club maintains in Cook Park, just across the street from the Civic Center," said Cleland.

Ornamental grasses program Aug. 26

There always seem to be new trends in gardening and right now, ornamental grasses are in the spotlight. You see them everywhere, from backyard gardens to commercial landscapers. They are readily available in many local garden centers, but the question is what do you do with them and how do you care for them? Learn more about these versatile garden plants at a program entitled "Ornamental Grasses" offered through the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service (CES). Horticulturist Sharon Ylesla will present the lesson on Wednesday, Aug. 26, from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the CES office located at 100 South U.S. Hwy., 45 in Grayslake.

The lesson will help participants understand what ornamental grasses are, how to care for them and how they can be used in the garden. A number of different species of grasses will be featured in a slide presentation. CES also has a demonstration garden of ornamental grasses, which program participants can visit after the program.

The workshop is designed to train leaders of local organizations or groups to reteach information presented in the workshop. Individuals are also invited to attend for their own personal information. It is co-sponsored by the Lake County Association for Family and Community Education.

There is no charge to attend and the workshop is open to the public. For additional information and to pre-register call 223-8627.

Now Is The Time To Plant Spring Bulbs—Large Selection Still Available

It's time for the fall color of garden mums. These hardy bloomers are one of the easiest to grow. And they display enough color to make those turning tree leaves envious. The garden mum has been called "America's Most Popular Perennial" — and with good reason. With the proper care and a bit of help from Mother Nature, garden mums have the potential to bloom again and again every autumn.

So if you need a good excuse to get outdoors this fall, grab an armload of our spectacular garden mums, available now at Leider's Garden Greenery.

Help your child become a better test taker

The lazy days of summer are coming to an end, and children are beginning to trade in their bathing suits for book bags. At the same time, even though many adults find it hard to believe, many students also will be trading in their laid-back manner for a more focused and responsible attitude as they head back to school.

Although children still savor the joys of childhood, like summer vacation, today's children have become more serious than previous generations. This is partly due to the fact that children are being given greater responsibilities inside the home and feel greater pressure to balance home, school and extracurricular activities.

As a result, when the school bell rings at back-to-school season, students and their parents are turning to organizational tools, like student planners, to help them organize their hectic schedules and focus on priorities.

According to Dana Walker, marketing manager of Mead School Products, student planners have become a staple for students during the back-to-school season. Mead's Five Star® First Gear® Student Planner was created for the special needs of the student.

"We have developed a variety of personal planners to help students organize their time more efficiently," Walker says. "In addition to the functional inserts like monthly calendars and organizational lists that are included in all of Mead's student planners, we also believe it is important to include helpful information on everything from studying to tips on how to become a better student."

To enable parents to relieve some of the pressure children encounter prior to taking a test, Mead has included the following test-taking tips in their Five Star First Gear Student Planner:

Before the test — The best preparation for a test is to study as you go along. Avoid cramming by starting to study for a test on the first day of class. By using good study techniques, you will learn the materials before the test is given. A positive attitude also is a must. Remember that it is more important to concentrate on the information you know rather than worrying about what you don't know. Relax before an exam — it is important to get plenty of rest the night before a test.

During the test — Remember to read all of the instructions before starting the test. Each question should be read completely before it is answered. Additionally, concentrate on one question at a time. If your mind goes blank, don't panic. Instead, move on to the next question. It also helps to answer the questions you know first and go back to the ones you did not answer later.

After the test — It is important to remain confident, even if your first attempt was not perfect. Measure your success by how much you have improved over past performances. Don't be afraid to ask the teacher for help — most teachers are able to offer advice regarding a tutor, extra-credit work and other ways to help improve a grade.

Be positive — Creating a positive environment and attitude for yourself is the key to effective studying. For example, create a relaxed working environment in which you can concentrate. Motivate yourself by getting involved with the subject. Learn how a subject relates to you and the things which interest you.

Parents should keep these test-taking tips in mind when trying to help children deal with the pressures of beginning a new school year. A school year filled with improved grades is less stressful for both the parent and the student. In addition, good study habits and test-taking skills prepare students to succeed in other endeavors down the road.

Mead school supplies can be found at local discount stores, drugstores, grocery stores, college bookstores, warehouse clubs or office superstores.

Dear Dr. Sonia, Susan, Dawn & Everyone at "Kids Dentist",

My 4 year old daughter, Taylor, recently came to see you. Taylor has been through a lot involving her teeth in the past year and a half, including two insensitive dentists, and assistants. She begged me to please find a "lady dentist". In talking to the mom of a schoolmate, I learned of you and your office. I want to thank you for putting Taylor at ease. She was afraid of everything associated with the dentist, and in one appointment, you eased her fear. Taylor loved how your office was decorated, the mirror and of course the Rugrats toothbrush. You are so in tune with kids, and sensitive to their feelings. How nice that you make going to the dentist FUN. The other pediatric dentists that we went to never went to the length that you and your staff do. You all appear to enjoy what you do and that reflects on to the children who visit. I really want to thank you again for what you've done for Taylor's fears and my heartache! I will definitely recommend you to everyone!

Very sincerely,
Jennie Janda

Thinking teacher teaches thinking with three thinking games

A game that involves constructing hundreds of designs using seven geometrically shaped puzzle pieces helps students learn and think in different ways.

"Tangoes® is great for developing both visual perception and problem-solving abilities," says Kathleen Hirsch, a middle school humanities teacher in Daphne, Ala., who teaches children higher-order thinking skills using brain-challenging games.

Hirsch also likes to use 3-Spot™ and L-Game™, Two Smart Games by Edward de Bono, the world's leading authority on conceptual and creative thinking. Though each player only has one piece, a skilled player can hold his opponent at bay for hours. The L-Game also teaches social justice concepts: if your opponent is left too far behind, you lose.

Not only do students learn higher-order thinking skills this way, they transfer new mental abilities to standard subjects, says Hirsch. The results show up not only on the faces of children having fun, but in standardized test scores as well.

The games are all from Rex Games Inc. For more information, call 1-800-542-6375.

Catch Freedomfest '98 in Grayslake's Central Park

By ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

Music will fill the air of Central Park in Grayslake as Freedomfest 1998 begins Aug. 22. Reverend Glen Brauer, along with Melody Saputo and members of the Lord of Glory Church, have organized a full lineup of Christian artists for the Freedomfest.

"We will be energizing people to be involved with the Lord," said Brauer.

The festival will be held from noon-8 p.m. and food will be included in the $10 admission price. Central Park is located off of Library Lane in Grayslake. Parking is available at Grayslake Middle School, located on Route 83 just north of Center Street and at the Grayslake Area Public Library, 100 Library Lane.

Rex Carrol a well known Christian musician will be one of the acts presented. Carrol has won the Dove Award, which is the Christian music industry's equivalent to a Grammy. Carrol leads the worship at Cornerstone Church in Waukegan every Sunday. Brauer said when he won the award he was playing Christian Rock. His style has changed and he now concentrates on up-tempo and blues music. He also runs a sound studio and has a group called "Rex Carrol and the Sessions."

Other musicians to play include Lisa Wyerhauser of Jam 'n' Java Coffeehouse in Lindenhurst and "Walk the Walk," which Brauer describes as a new dynamic group of people willing to challenge you with a new sound for Christ. The Lord of Glory Praise Team and other solo artists will also be performing.

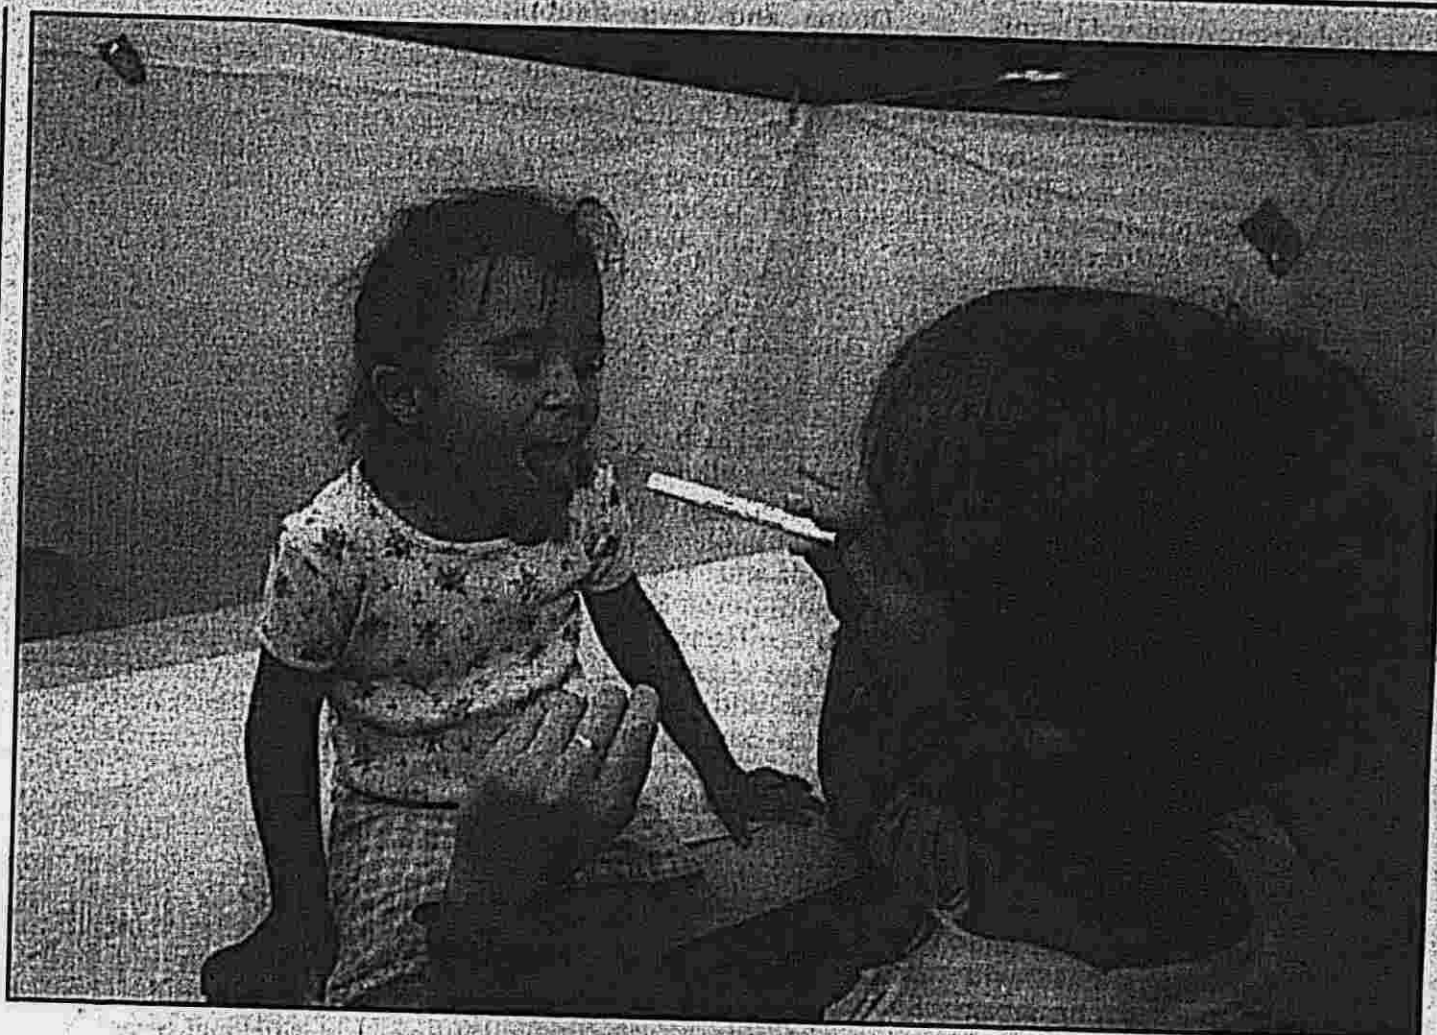

This is the first time the church has held Freedomfest.

"Last year we had a Crusade. This is a little different. We'll have games and rides. Last year there was more preaching," explained Brauer.

He said the idea is to build up as the day goes on and by 7 p.m. they would like to have all the people come together on stage.

Lord of Glory was founded three years ago by Brauer. He has gone from a congregation of zero to 200 members. The church is hoping to break ground on its property located on Route 120 this October. They will be constructing a multi-purpose building for worship services, gym space and preschool rooms.

For more information, contact the church at 548-5673. Sponsors of this year's event include Frito Lay, Lutheran Church Extension Fund, Weather Control, Arcade Machine and Ed's Sound Studio.

Program creates day care for children with disabilities

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

Easter Seals is making it easier for parents of children with disabilities to find appropriate day care in Lake County.

Through a $233,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Human Services, the organization launched Partners IN Child Care. Beginning in September, the program will pay for pre-school children with disabilities to attend specific day care centers with appropriately trained staff.

"There is a great need for more day care services for children with disabilities and special needs," said Joyce Golbus Poll, executive vice president of the Easter Seal Society of Metropolitan Chicago. "Many parents are staying home rather than working because there isn't enough day care for these children."

A recent survey conducted by Easter Seals showed a potential shortage of nearly 2,000 day care slots for children with disabilities under the age of six in the Lake County area.

As its first venture, the program is working with the Mundelein and Waukegan facilities of the Lake County Family YMCA.

"Overall, caring for disabled children is not that different from caring for normal children. The major difference is that disabled children require more individualized care"

Joyce Golbus Poll, executive vice president of the Easter Seal Society or other developmental disabilities. The staff at these facilities are being trained to care for these children.

"Through education, we will alleviate fears and dispel myths about caring for disabled children," said Golbus Poll. "Overall, caring for disabled children is not that different from caring for normal children. The major difference is that disabled children require more individualized care."

The program will soon be available in McHenry County as well. For more information, contact the Lake County YMCA at 360-9622.

Judge refuses to grant final order on Bell's

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

If John L. Bell III wants to keep the Bell's Apple Orchard that has been owned by his family for more than 50 years, he will have to place a bid to buy it back, according to the Illinois Department of Insurance.

The issue of who holds title to the property, as far as the Cook County Court is concerned, is over. However, what to do with the property is still not finalized.

Judge Ellis Reid refused to issue final ruling on the agreement, which will give the title to the land to Orchard Limited, Inc., a limited partnership of Coronet Insurance Co., that is owned by Larry Kaplan of St. Charles, stating the partnership needs to come up with a fairer way to dissolve the property, authorities said.

The judge stated in court Aug. 18 that Coronet, which went bankrupt and is being liquidated, needs to get the best return on its investment with this real estate venture, said Peter Gallanis, special deputy receiver for the Illinois Department of Insurance. He is managing Coronet through its liquidation out of the department's Chicago office.

"It think the judge is applying this absolutely correctly," Gallanis said.

Bell's attorney, Fred Speck of Chicago, saw the judge's ruling as a plus for them as well.

"We are pleased the court is looking at the reality of the current sham deal that is trying to be foisted off on the court by Larry Kaplan and the Illinois Department of Insurance," Speck said. "What we cannot figure out is why the Illinois Department of Insurance is so supportive of this sham deal."

Reid asked the attorneys to return in his courtroom Sept. 16, and asked Kaplan's attorney, Peter F. Lovato, of Peterson and Ross of Chicago, to have a better plan on how the partnership will handle the partnership expenses, a time-frame on the sale of the property and what provisions will take place if the property cannot be sold within a reasonable time-frame, Gallanis said.

The agreement currently before the court also states Kaplan has an option to buy the land, even though he has been ordered to sell it, which another attorney representing Bell said could give Kaplan an unfair advantage.

Bell has stated he wants to buy the property back, if he cannot get the title back otherwise. However, he could benefit by the property being sold to the highest bidder, has he is owed $200,000 by Coronet.

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

EPA proposes landfill clean-up plan

Antioch—Officials from the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency Region 5 office met with township and community residents and officials to accept comments on, what could be, an estimated $7.2 million proposed cleanup plan for the H.O.D. Landfill Superfund Site.

Questions raised at the hearing concerned specific issues related to implementation of the agency's proposed plan or requests for additional information.

The environmental agency said that it would accept written comments on the proposed plan until Thursday, Aug. 20. Several people at the hearing expressed concern about specific details related to implementation of the plan and requested information be provided.

In addition, the newly formed Kenosha Ground Water Team, of Trevor, Wis., presented a list of more than 50 technical questions to U.S. EPA prior to the meeting. The group stated, "These questions must be answered."

The hearing was held Tuesday, Aug. 11 at 7 p.m. at Antioch Village Hall.

U.S. EPA Community Involvement Coordinator Gordie Blum said a transcript of the evening's meeting will be placed on file at the Antioch Public Library District.

"We've come up with what we think is the overall best solution," Blum said. "You can help us judge how well the remedy is going to work."

Ronald W. Murawski, current remedial project manager, presented the agency's proposed plan to clean the site.

Murawski said that the primary goal of the clean-up activity was to reduce movement of the site's contaminants in the ground water.

Holiday Park rezoned

Fox Lake—Holiday Park Limited Liability Corporation, developers for the struggling Holiday Park property located on Route 134 in Ingleside, came before the Fox Lake Zoning Board on Thursday night requesting a zoning change.

What they got was a half-change.

In a unique decision by the zoning board, they agreed to rezone parcels 1, 2 and 4 of the Holiday Park planning map to commercial B-3, but denied a request by Holiday Park, LLC to rezone the remainder of the land to residential R-4.

The zoning change is required by the developers before they will consider annexing into Fox Lake.

With the affirmative nod for rezoning of the commercial parcels, the developers of the 105 acre parcel of land bordering Wooster Lake came before the village board on Monday night and delivered a brief presentation on the future plans for Holiday Park.

According to Donald C. Stinespring, attorney for the developers, a 105 room Hawthorne Suite Hotel will be erected where the abandoned Holiday Park Ski Lodge currently resides. Future plans could also include a small commercial and entertainment area be erected on the site.

However, the problem for the zoning board members on Thursday night was the high density expected from zoning, parcel 3 and 5 of Holiday Park at the requested R-4.

"With that property being right on the lake and the impact that you would have to the community, I would rather see you zoned R-3," said Bob Warden, acting zoning board chairman, prior to voting. "My opinion would be to have you come in under Planned Unit Development (PUD) with residential and be a little creative."

Park talks aquatic center site

Gurnee—Gurnee Park officials are examining several approaches for long-term answers to use of a proposed aquatic center at Hunt Club Road site.

A land-lease agreement which would generate revenue for Gurnee Park District and also a jump start to a park district citizens support group are under consideration. This comes while park and village officials meet in a committee to examine ways to cooperate regarding future combined ventures.

Park district voters had rejected two tax increase requests to fund an aquatic center at Hunt Club Road. Village trustees turned thumbs down on a financing plan of $400,000 a year over 20 years. Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton recommended another referendum try of a .5 cents increase by the park district.

"It is important to move on with our own priorities. We can't sit back and wait for their list," Donna Kolar, park commissioner, said at the latest park board meeting.

A group of park and village officials on a new committee to explore cooperative ventures has met, park board president Vicky Paddock said.

Park officials all but ruled out a November referendum bid. Park board members preferred to re-establish a Friends of the Park group for general support with multiple projects.

Man donates $750,000 for pool

Grayslake—By the summer of 2000 children in Grayslake will probably be able to walk to their own pool.

The Esper A. Peterson Fund, has pledged $750,000, or half the cost to build a pool in Grayslake, to the village.

Esper Peterson, who grew up on a farm where Prairie Crossing subdivision is now located, said he believes strongly in having a pool in Grayslake. He began talks with the Mayor after the referendum to build a pool failed last fall.

The money he is donating comes from the foundation started by his father, whom he described as a generous man.

The donation was presented at the Committee of the Whole meeting and was approved in concept unanimously. The village will now work with the park district and Peterson on plans for the aquatic center and the final proposal will go to the formal village board for approval.

The board is expected to vote on the draft agreement between the village and foundation at the Sept. 1 board meeting.

Mayor Pat Carey said the additional funding for the center will come from a village fund or possibly a grant.

Stipulations come with the donation. The foundation will oversee the design and construction of the aquatic center. Preliminary designs will be presented to the village and park district for review and comment.

Construction is to begin no later than June 1, 1999 and the foundation would donate the completed facility to the village no later than May 1, 2000.

The village will match the $750,000 donation and any funds needed if construction costs exceed $1.5 million. The foundation will be reimbursed for architectural services for the project up to $165,000.

The Park District will also be a part of the negotiations. The village will work with the district to obtain a long term lease for the development of the facility in Central Park by Nov. 1, of this year.

Vandals paint hate slogans

Newport Township—Three adults and one juvenile have been charged in connection with vandalism to an area near Mount Rest Cemetery along Old Route 41, in Newport Township, Aug. 12.

In the early morning of Aug. 12, Lake County Sheriff's Deputies observed the offenders near the cemetery. Extra patrols had been placed in the area following a report of vandalism at the cemetery.

The four subjects fled on foot when they spotted police nearby. Upon investigation the deputies discovered street signs, the pavement and overpass bridge had been freshly spray painted.

The slogans were anti-Semitic in nature. Police discovered hate material and an aluminum baseball bat in the vehicle which the offenders left behind. The bat was connected with a criminal damage to auto incident which occurred near the intersection of Route 173 and Kilbourne Road that same night.

Two of the offenders were apprehended at the scene. The juvenile was released to his parents. The other, Aaron Winn, 18, of Beach Park, was taken into custody. Erick Eberhardt, 18, of Waukegan, and Patrick Mustell, 18, of Beach Park, were taken into custody later.

They were all charged with criminal damage to property. The sheriff's department reports it is working on an investigation with the Lake County State's Attorney's Office to consider charges in relation to committing a hate crime and vandalism.

Mount Rest Cemetery was damaged between Aug. 5-11 when headstones were knocked to the ground.

Developer gets second chance

Mundelein—It's back to the drawing board for all Ivanhoe residents who thought they had defeated a plan to build Cambridge Homes in their neighborhood. Mundelein trustees made that happen by reconsidering a resolution to annex and rezone 48 acres at Route 176 and west of Lemon Road for the Robin Hood Farms subdivision. The board voted 6-0 at the Aug. 17 board meeting to reconsider the motion on the resolution, defeated Aug. 10 by a 3-3 vote, and voted to discuss a new annexation agreement at the board's Aug. 24 meeting.

Cambridge officials and the land owner were obviously pleased with this turnaround, based on a revised plan submitted to the board and two board members reconsidering their positions. However, Ivanhoe residents who opposed the plan were obviously disappointed. "I am not happy," said Holly Robinson. "We are going to address the points made at the next meeting," she said. "We have to do whatever we can to make them consider our concerns."

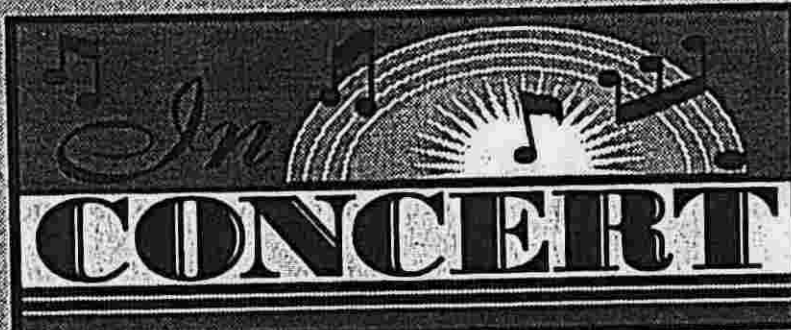

The new plan, submitted Aug. 17, calls for Cambridge to reduce the number of lots from 63 to 57, which will increase the average lot size from around 14,000 square feet to approximately 16,000 square feet, with 20 percent of the homes in excess of that.

Mundelein proves no can be a good answer

Mundelein Village officials have stood their ground. When presented with a good, but not superior plan for another upscale housing development in their community, they bucked the trend and voted no.

It was a risk.

The village stood to gain $1 million in impact fees and donations, road improvements and sewer connections from the proposed Cambridge Homes Robin Hood Farms development.

But, the board listened to residents in unincorporated Ivanhoe and the majority decided the development was not to their liking. It was too dense and lots were too small.

Guess what?

After being denied, Aug. 10, Cambridge Homes came back to the village with a revised site plan, Aug. 17. Cambridge has reduced the number of lots from 63 to 57 and increased lots sizes at least 2,000 square feet.

The changes were made, in large part, based on the complaints of the residents of Ivanhoe, who will be neighbors to the new development.

The project is obviously important to Cambridge Homes. Owner Richard Brown made a rare appearance at Monday's board meeting along with senior vice-president Jerry Conrad, who usually handles such matters.

The project is also important to Mundelein. The village needs to negotiate carefully and judiciously over the next several years when growth in Fremont Township is predicted to be unstoppable.

Setting the tone now will serve to protect residents and village's interests in the future.

Often times, saying no sends the right message.

UDO ordinance forgets Joe Citizen

Staff personnel are in the process of rewriting rewrites of the long awaited Unified Development Ordinance (UDO), the comprehensive document intended to guide Lake County development in the next century. The process is arduous and frustrating, but, oh so vital to the Lake County of the future.

Without a doubt, natural resource protection for wetlands, woods, ponds and lake, ravines and shorelines has drawn the most comment. Indeed, protectionists on the County Board regard verbiage covering natural resources to be the heart and soul of the proposed document that hopefully can be adopted by December after a year's work.

As the rewriting process drones on, the county's Planning, Building and Zoning Committee finds itself in the middle. J. Barry Hokanson, planning and development director, has lamented the fact that most of the comments on UDO drafts have come from pressure groups.

The Lake County Homebuilders Association is lobbying for weaker natural resource protection. State and federal agencies demand stiff requirements protecting land and water, and endangered wildlife.

Hokanson lamented that comments are mostly agency driven.

Countering builder and development comment at public hearings has been input from the U.S. Interior Dept., U.S. Agriculture Dept., Army Corps of Engineers, Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources and the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission.

Hokanson is correct in his concern for lack of input from individual citizens. One of the reasons individuals are reluctant to speak up is their frustration dealing with current interpretations of state and federal environmental guidelines that lump individuals with big developers. Drawing a hard line on soil erosion and flooding guidelines for developers when hundreds of acres are at stake makes sense, but applying the same guidelines to a shoreline property owners with 50 to 80 feet of water frontage often is ludicrous. We can see why Hokanson and his staff are often perplexed and sometimes bewildered.

Before too much more time is spent writing new drafts in an attempt to ameliorate various pressure groups, it would be useful to sort out how protective measures impact differently on big commercial endeavors and Joe Citizen. Dare we raise of the specter of a double standard? That might be exactly what's needed to get the job done of adopting UDO before another flood season rolls around that's fair to everyone.

Playing 'gotcha' is trivial pursuit

Let's play a game, a political game. Pretend you're the editor of a Chicago daily or on the assignment desk of a local TV station.

Through an unidentified source (yuk, yuk), you receive a copy of a solicitation or an invitation to a Republican state candidate fund raising event. Story, story you tell yourself. You immediately spring into action. (Editors and TV assignment desks always "spring into action.")

Letter goes something like, "As a friend of Candidate Yochim, you are no doubt...blah, blah, blah." Invitation is more straight forward. "Candidate Yochim will be honored at blah, blah, blah. Cash bar. Admission $ _____. (Anything from $25 to sky's the limit). Please make out check to Committee to Elect Candidate Yochim."

OK. Now you really swing into action. Assign reporter or mini-cam team to contact Democrat spokesman for Candidate Schmerch who is running against Yochim.

Schmerch's flak turns purple as reporter opens note book and/or camera operator turns on light.

"I'm outraged. This is illegal."

This is an injustice to the thousands of little people supporting Schmerch, a good and honest citizen out to undo the abuses and injustices Republicans are foisting on an unsuspecting public. These Americans are being intimidated. They feel the pressure." Reporter and camera person thanks Schmerch flak for an honest and unbiased assessment of the cesspool in which GOP candidates are mired, heading back to the office to file report.

flowers with Democratic spokesperson's indignant evaluation. Talking TV head intones, "New evidence of campaign funding abuse." Reporter describes pain of letter recipient who wishes to remain anonymous. Headline writer attaches obligatory "furor" factor. Print story "balances" Schmerch flak's outrage with denial from Yochim's press secretary. "Lies, nothing but lies. Accusations without proof. Our letter is perfectly legal." Where are Schmerch and Yochim? They could not be reached for comment because of attending downstate fund raisers.

So far Republican gubernatorial candidate George Ryan, Secretary of State nominee Al Salv and State Sen. Peter Fitzgerald running for the U.S. Senate have been the principal targets of the media "gotcha" game played during the fund raising season. They react with good humor and go about their business of running for office—and raising new money for their campaign.

Question for the big city editor and nightly news assignment desk: What about blue collar workers and the school teachers whose union dues payments are funneled to Democratic candidates with nary a comment on their part. They don't even get the courtesy of a letter or an invitation.

Might be interesting what the Yochim spokesperson would have to say if contacted by the media. "I'm outraged. This is illegal. This is an injustice to the thousands of little people supporting, etc. etc. etc."

As we said, let's play a game, a political game.

I pass latest tollway disaster

The Illinois State Toll Highway Authority and the Illinois Department of Transportation are spending taxpayers' "big bucks" for the celebrated "transportation improvement" study, so I'm sure that they won't give a dime's worth of attention to any of my free and unsolicited suggestions. But it is impossible in a four-part series to point out the never-ending problems that have plagued the tollway system.

The latest disaster relates to the 30,000, or half of the transponders used by the I-PASS "fast lane" program. More than $1 million dollars was spent on those defective transponders, adding to the six year woes of the much-heralded I-PASS program. A legislator has called for an investigation of how the Tollway Authority entered into the questionable contract for the machines.

Again, the important issue is that if the Authority were under a unit of state government, some oversight would be a part of all contract purchases. I get sick and tired of hearing the present executive director telling everyone that the days of wasteful spending, bungling, and scandal are over now that he directing the "Titanic." He just doesn't get it. What the tollway needs is something more than a few personnel changes. The Tollway Authority needs drastic and sweeping STRUCTURAL CHANGE, and it can only be done with major legislative reform of the system.

One of the key issues in the Route 53 extension is the ways that the roadway will impact on the environment, and especially the wetlands. I recall when I tried to pass legislation which would have mandated that all tollway projects be required to follow environmental impact guidelines, much as federal and state highways do. The Tollway Authority bitterly fought that legislation, and to this day opposes statutory change to force them to follow such guidelines. Their lame excuse always was that they are "user-funded," a false claim, and they also try to claim that they will always file and follow the requisite environmental guidelines. If that is so, why fight against any change of the law.

SEEING IT THROUGH

The citizens of Lake County must not under-estimate the heavy toll, and I'm not talking about tollway dollars, that any additional tollway will have on the quality of life in Lake County. The "100-year flood" happens much more often now, not because there are more unusual amounts of rainfall, but our landscapes are being stripped of the capacity to handle the rains.

Tollway builders will tell you that they will substitute the wetlands that they must disturb with "wetlands mitigation," a fancy term to describe substituting a natural wetland to another area as a "manufactured wetland." As a general rule, I believe that the public is short-changed by such wetland mitigation changes. The law requires a period of five years to determine if the wetland exchange "worked," and there are some steps to take if "it didn't work." There is some fairly solid dialogue being developed that it takes a lot longer than five years to determine if a wetlands mitigation program is successful. Meanwhile, if it isn't successful, who is hurt by it? Not the contractors or developers, who may be miles from the scene of natural devastation. No, it is the public who were protected by "nature's own laws." There is a saying that goes something like, "If you fool around with nature, it will get its own revenge."

Many of the past scandals of the Illinois Tollway Authority were uncovered quite by accident. The "double-pension deal" for tollway "higher-ups," the crooked land deal that landed a legislator and a former tollway executive director with jail time convictions, the lavish parties and picnics paid with toll box revenues, the wasteful spending for the tollway headquarters, and many other wrongdoings. There has never been a full scale investigation of the no-bid contracts, the use of sub-standard construction materials on tollway projects, or the acquisition of highway rights-of-way.

About $40 million dollars of our gas tax revenues were used to purchase rights-of-way for the Route 53 extension and those properties have been turned over to the Tollway Authority. Since those properties were bought with our taxes, don't we have a right to know who we bought that property from and how much they may have benefited from the transactions?

Before a shovel is ever turned over to construct Route 53, will both the Tollway Authority and IDOT identify some of the "profiteers" who may have hidden behind "secret land trusts," so that the public, or no one, will ever know what "may have been at the bottom" of some of the purchased?

When we tried to pass a law banning secret land trusts, some legislators tried to give holler than thou explanations of why secret land trusts are so necessary. But, the other side of the coin is that someone who may have a direct conflict of interest in a transaction can bene-

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Marks stalls new term for Building Chair Peterson

No one knows how to get under the skin of the Lake County Board establishment better than Representative Martha Marks (R-Riverwoods).

Marks has Chairman Bob Grever (R-Kildeer) and the ruling majority seething over her question about payment of six years of legal fees in connection with affairs of the Public Building Commission.

Marks raised the fees question and effectively blocked the reappointment of millionaire Gurnee industrialist and developer Esper Peterson, who serves as chairman. Grever shrugged off the Marks questions and expects the Peterson appointment to be approved next time around.

In the meantime, Marks will be looking for an itemization of the $300,000 in fees. The commission has been mired in litigation with contractors over shortcomings in the Babcox Justice Center and a sagging pedestrian bridge connecting the Center and the Courthouse.

Rudy Magna of Gurnee is attorney for the commission.

Marks is a charter member of the independent Republican bloc on the County Board that frequently is at odds with Grever and the ruling junta.

Grever happens to be a member of the commission. Other members are Donald Owen, vice chairman, Winthrop Harbor; Dale Kober, Highland Park; and Robert Peron, Lincolnshire. Members serve five year terms.

Marks: Wants answers on spending.

Kiesgen: Hits the road advertising

No stranger

When Grant Township Supervisor Gordon Kiesgen hits the road, he wants everyone to know he's on the job. Kiesgen slaps large magnetic signs on the side of his car. He's not bragging, just making sure citizens don't worry about a suspicious car in the neighborhood. "Besides, my car is black," Kiesgen related.

Question of money

In a city where "money doesn't matter," Lake Forest Councilman Bishop Gallagher is out to prove that "money does matter." Gallagher waved a flag of caution after two municipal projects, construction of a cemetery building and Market Square upgrades, were found to be running ahead of budget. With staff employees recommending extra spending, Gallagher wonders if a trend has been established. "We have nine months left in the fiscal year," he warned.

Leading ladies

Mari Jo Jacquette has taken over the presidency of Women Attorneys of Lake County. Other new officers are E. Alexandra DeLateur, vice president; Kay Phillon, secretary and Kathy deBruyne, treasurer.

Tightening the belt

Winthrop Harbor Mayor Robert Loy has called for a village austerity plan in the wake of a federal courts decision growing out of an lawsuit against a former police chief accused of secretly recording employee phone calls on a line designated for private use. The court awarded 68 plaintiffs $10,000 each. Loy said damages would be covered by insurance, but the village faces $400,000 in attorney's fees for the plaintiffs.

'I wish I had said that'

I have come up with some excellent one-liners I would like to share with you:

"The worm will turn."
"Every dog will have his day."
"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet."
"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder."

I had better mention that I came up with these lines by lifting them from another writer, William Shakespeare.

The Boston Globe newspaper's star columnist, Mike Barnicle, who is to Boston (almost) what Mike Royko was to Chicago, allegedly copped some quips from another writer and almost lost his job.

In a column of 38 one-liners headlined "I was just thinking..." Barnicle used 10 jokes that obviously came from comedian George Carlin's best-selling book, "Brain Drop-pings."

For example, Carlin wrote: "Someday I wanna see the Pope come out on that balcony and give the football scores."

And Barnicle wrote: "Someday I'd love to see the Pope appear on his balcony and give the baseball scores."

Many of Barnicle's colleagues long have suspected that some of his quotes and characters were too good to be true. Royko himself twice accused Barnicle of plagiarism.

The Boston Globe once settled for $75,000 after lawyer Alan Der-showitz charged Barnicle had attributed to him a phony, racist quote. Dershowitz said, "It was the most open secret in all of Boston that Barnicle was a fiction writer."

This time, Barnicle's bosses let him off with a two-month suspension after fans rallied to his defense, including his friend and my favorite morning radio-TV personality, tongue-in-cheek Don Imus.

"He's obviously sloppy and lazy," Imus said. "He's admitted that but he shouldn't be fired for that."

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Barnicle's defense was that humorous lines such as those from Carlin's book are "just out there floating in the air in the public domain."

We can imagine his reaction when he spied Carlin's lines: "I wish I had said that; in fact, I think I will."

I know that's how I felt when I finished reading all five acts and 17 scenes of Shakespeare's "Hamlet." I said to myself, "I wish I had said that."

And when I finally finished all 1,456 pages of Tolstoy's "War and Peace," I lamented again, "I wish I had said that."

My wife Janice and I have a personal joke. When one of us concocts what we consider a clever one-liner, the other nods and says, "Well, Shakespeare probably wrote that four centuries ago."

There's an old newsroom saying: If you steal from one source it's plagiarism, if you steal from several sources it's research.

From my "research," here are lines possibly worth borrowing, but be sure to give attribution:

"Living with a saint is more grueling than being one." Robert Neville.

"We can't all be heroes because somebody has to sit on the curb and clap as they go by." Will Rogers.

"I married beneath me. All women do." Nancy, Lady Astor.

"Cats are smarter than dogs. You can't get eight cats to pull a sled through snow." Jeff Valdez.

"It seems all of my old school-days friends are in Who's Who and I'm still in Who's Not."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dist. 116 needs leadership for the future

One could not agree more with School District 116 School Board member Anthony Walesby's viewpoint that the renewed contract with Supt. Davis is "a step in the wrong direction."

Public outrage, I suspect, will mushroom once details of Supt. Davis' contract terms are fully explained to taxpayers. Already one board member has confided that it will become a major bone of contention in the upcoming spring elections in 1999.

After a special summer board meeting, in which members approved the superintendent's contract in low profile fashion, President Linda Molitor exclaimed "She's a keeper." I and others beg to differ and many more will too, once they become aware of the board's most recent irresponsible act of fiduciary performance.

As the community returns their focus from vacations back to school issues they will realize, they that still have school board majority, save one, that is enamored by Davis to the point of throwing all logic to the wind and in effect patting her on the back with a "job well done." I ask you, are we better off now than we were five years ago?

News items said that the Davis received a 25 percent increase making her one of Lake County's highest paid superintendents. The 25 percent figure is true just for the first year. A closer look at her contract reveals the following four years she will also receive a non-merit guaranteed 5 percent raise each year. Her salary alone will be at $158,000 in the fifth year of the contract. Not to mention perks of a $3,000 tax deferred annuity each year; fully paid medical, hospital and dental coverage for her and her family, a term life insurance equal to her annual salary, and monthly $600 cellular phone and transportation allowance amounting to $7,200 a year.

"It is not extremely high for Lake County and not high for the job I do," says Davis in justification and gives creation of a technology center, a district/community liaison group called BEST and increasing the high school graduation credits requirements by four as her accomplishments of her five year tenure as superintendent.

Of the three accomplishments Davis cites, the higher graduation credit requirement and BEST came about just in the last year of her old contract. While credit for the success of the technology center rightfully belongs to the high school's former principal, James Briscoe. It was he who spent much of his own time soliciting businesses for equipment to put in the center.

This board also ushered though in the same month a 9.6 percent raise for all administrative and non-union employees. They will receive 4.8 percent wage increase each year for two years. The board cited teachers' raises from the last contract settlement, which ended a state record 38 day strike, as the reason to give more to administrative and non-union workers.

Already overburdened taxpayers see 80 percent of their tax bill go to the school district, yet it is the most poorly managed of all the districts serving Round Lake area.

The district has now hired a public relations person who will hopefully utilized her talents to accomplish a long overdue change of the district's infamous image.

"This district is only as good as its community support and leadership," says Davis. That we can agree on. Our community has given its support with the passage of a $11.7 million referendum. And not far down the road in 1999 the district plans to again look to pass another referendum to build a new middle school. Given the superintendent's track record and board's past decisions, it won't be easy convincing the community to throw good money away. What we now need is the leadership.

Rte. 41 a vital link

It is apparent that the Illinois Department of Transportation, has treated Route 41, like a good neighborhood expressway. In fact, it is a vital link here in Lake County.

The roadway is obsolete. Due to the high density of traffic that has increased in the past few years. Two lanes going south, two lanes north. Route 41 draws enormous amount of trucks and autos going south to Chicago, north to Milwaukee.

At this time, the possibility of road expansion seems to be very uncertain, since there are more and more business developments right smack up to the right lanes of the roadway. A Target Store opening along side of Route 41 in Highland Park.

It would be impossible and costly, to attempt an expansion. We get traffic as far north as Green Bay, and everything in between. Even from Minnesota on a daily basis, using the roadway for their return trip.

The IDOT has failed to project how much traffic they could expect in Lake County. The increase in population North of Chicago, leaves the traffic department with a "hot potato." And what about the casualties. Each and every mile is in need of resurfacing, from Lake Cook Road north.

The toll road is receiving renovating, because it is a money maker, for the Toll Road authority.

IDOT must take full responsibility, for their lay back slow position they take on Route 41. Alleviating a major truck, automobile thruway, with a 45-50 mile speed limit. What would it take to get the IDOT to expand the roadway? The work would take us into the next century, before we see any improvement.

fit by never being disclosed of having an interest in property. Can such be the case in some of the tollway rights-of-way? Will we ever know?

I can go on and on about the problems of the Illinois Tollway system. The bottom line is what I started with in opening this series. Everybody who is anybody in state government is at fault for allowing the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority to continue to function in its present form. Almost $1 million dollars a day is spent by tollway users who are already paying high motor fuel taxes. That is double-taxation in anyone's book.

The Lake County Transportation Improvement Project is just another hoax being perpetrated on the public. We should be talking about IMPROVEMENT, that's for sure. We should be talking about the ILLINOIS STATE TOLL HIGHWAY AUTHORITY IMPROVEMENT PROJECT, a project to improve and overhaul the tollway authority, so that the public has oversight over such an important agency. It is about time that the public becomes a player in what up to now has been "a cash cow for those with clout." THE TOLLWAY SYSTEM IN ILLINOIS NEEDS TOP-TO-BOTTOM REFORM AND IT NEEDS IT NOW.

'A step in the right direction'

Violence Intervention and Prevention announces their fourth Annual Fall Forum entitled: "Violence Prevention Every Step of the Way." The Fall Forum will take place on Thursday, Oct. 1, from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the College of Lake County (19351 W. Washington St., Grayslake).

The Forum will address violence prevention issues by focusing upon the developmental stages throughout one's life. The programmed breakout sessions will offer an emphasis in early childhood, adolescents, older adults and the family. Each session will be lead by violence prevention professionals.

A variety of community service agencies will also be in attendance at informational booths surrounding the conference area; providing freebies and additional information regarding violence prevention programs and services throughout Lake County.

The cost of the event is $10 and will include a continental breakfast. Reservations and pre-payment is required, and participants are asked to RSVP by Friday, Sept. 25.

If you, your family, agency, clergy, school or office would like further information, or if you would like to become a member, contact the VIP office at (847) 604-1504.

VIP is a countywide collaborative organization, partially funded by the Illinois Violence Prevention Authority (IVPA) and United Way of Lake County.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

I dare you to get motivated

It was one of those exciting, life-changing seminars. The speaker was fluent, vibrant and alive. I hung onto every word.

The speaker defined motivation as a "motive for action." He stressed that no person can motivate another toward success. "Only you can motivate yourself," he said. As he spoke those words, he looked right at me.

As I left the auditorium that night, I felt my life would never be the same. The speaker had given me a motive for action. Though I had no clear picture of success, that night I saw myself on that platform. I envisioned the crowd applauding me. I chose to become a professional speaker.

The perfect ending to this story would be that I immediately went out and started a speaking career and became wildly successful.

However, we don't live in a perfect world. It actually took more than 20 years to turn my dream into reality.

Here is a synopsis of what I learned about self-motivation. I hope it challenges you.

What I learned

• The Power of Self-Discipline. Discipline is to your mind and soul, what exercise is to your physical body. Discipline is training that helps you develop self-control, character and orderly conduct in your life.

Many people view discipline in a negative sense. To them discipline means punishment. Self-discipline is positive control. It is not self-punishment.

Discipline lets you overcome apathy and laziness by keeping you focused on what you want to achieve. Recently, I visited with a nationally known business author who told me he had given up television to devote time to writing. His self-discipline allowed him to produce two new books in three years.

• The Power of Action. If you are patiently waiting for success, you are in for a long wait. Success will not come to you. You must go get it.

It is important to view success from the right perspective. Success is not a reward you get or a destination at which you arrive one day. It is who you are and what you do every day. Success begins with taking the steps that will carry you toward your dreams.

John Locke said, "The actions of men are the best interpreters of their thoughts." Over the years I have visited with folks who excelled in talking about what they were going to do. The problem is, they "talk" but never "do." They have not learned that no action means no reward.

• The power of rewards. When you have done your best, you receive the most satisfying reward: a deep sense of accomplishment. Calvin Coolidge said, "No person was ever honored for what he received. Honor has been the reward for what he gave." Part of the reward for giving your best is knowing you did well.

Another value of rewards is in using them as personal motivators. In early 1997, as I was battling cancer, I promised myself two rewards if I survived. The first was to take my wife to Hawaii. The second was to buy the Corvette I have always wanted. By God's grace I survived, took the trip and bought the car. The rewards were important be-

DePaul signs lease to locate in Lake Forest

DePaul University has signed a five-year lease for an 11,700-square-foot facility at the intersection of I-94 and US Route 60 in Lake Forest and will open a Lake county Campus there in September.

Located in a new office complex called Two Company Park at 150 Field Drive, the facility is DePaul's fourth suburban campus.

"Lake County is one of the fastest growing counties in the state and has a significant level of unmet demand for higher education," says David O. Justice, DePaul's vice president for lifelong learning. "The new campus extends DePaul's commitment for providing accessible higher education to working professionals in the North suburbs."

"DePaul's goal is to enroll 200 students at the Lake County Campus in the first full year," said William Calzaretta, executive director of DePaul's suburban campuses.

The facility will offer six technology-equipped classrooms, a fully networked library, a 20-station computer lab, faculty and administrative offices, quiet and casual study space for students and free parking. Evening and weekend courses will be offered in the fall by the graduate program of DePaul's School of Computer Science, Telecommunications and Information Systems, the bachelor's degree program of the School for New Learning and the nursing department in the college of Liberal Arts & Sciences (LA&S).

DePaul is seeking approval from Illinois Board of Higher Education for LA&S to offer a Master's of Public Service Management Program at the new campus in the winter.

An interactive video classroom at the new campus will allow DePaul to offer live interactive classes between the Lake County Campus and the DePaul's Loop, Lincoln Park, O'Hare and Naperville campuses, and with other higher education institutions in the state and beyond.

"DePaul is excited about working professionals of Lake County," says the Rev. John P. Minogue, C.M., president of the university. "It is always rewarding to build new friendships."

DePaul University celebrates the centennial of its founding during the 1998-99 school year. Special events marking the 100th anniversary will be held in the fall at all campuses, including the Lake County Campus.

With more than 17,000 students in eight colleges and schools, DePaul is the largest Catholic university in the Midwest and the second largest in the United States.

People seeking information about applying for programs at DePaul's Lake County Campus should call the adult admissions office at (312) 362-6709.

State human services chief to meet with clients, staff at NICASA women's center Aug. 24

Howard Peters, secretary of the Illinois Department of Human Services (DHS), will visit the Women and Children's Center of the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA) at 9 a.m. Monday, Aug. 24, reports Pam Thompson, program director.

The center is located at 2031 Dugdale Ave., North Chicago.

Thompson said Peters will meet with clients and staff in a breakfast meeting that is being arranged by Jan Zibus, aide to State Sen. William Peterson. Joining Peters will be William Holland, director of transitional services for DHS.

Sharon E., first graduate, and Rita L., a current client, will talk about the impact of the program on their lives.

Judy Fried, NICASA's executive director, said the focus of the breakfast meeting will be on the program's success at treating the women for their addiction and helping them move from welfare to the workforce.

"We are so pleased that Secretary Peters will be able to witness first-hand how our program works," Fried said.

Thompson said the center has served 349 women and 256 children since its inception in 1993. She said 37 mothers have been reunified with 79 children.

Of special significance, Thompson said, is that nine children have been born drug-free to women who had previously given birth to drug-affected babies. With researchers for the University of Illinois estimating long-term health care costs at $500,000 for drug-affected babies, she said the savings to society for the nine drug-free babies is about $4.5 million.

Aimed at addicted women who live in poverty in North Chicago, Waukegan and Zion, the center's services include childcare, transportation, parenting programs, ongoing assessment of the client's therapeutic needs, evening sessions for relapse prevention and continuing care, bilingual services, GED classes, employment training and placement, toxicology and outreach.

Founded in 1966, NICASA is headquartered in Round Lake, with additional clinical facilities in Waukegan and Prairie View. A not-for-profit agency, NICASA also operates the Women and Children's Center and Bridge House, a residential facility in Waukegan for men and women recovering from alcohol or other addiction.

Castillo named marketing director at Consumers Cooperative Credit Union

Consumers Cooperative Credit Union has named Martha Castillo marketing director of the institution with its $191 million in assets and nearly 39,000 members or customers.

She has been with Consumers since 1985 except for a period in 1994 and 1995 when she was community coordinator of volunteers for the Lake County Fighting Back program aimed at the prevention and treatment of alcohol and drug abuse.

In her marketing position, she is responsible for developing brochures and flyers, commercials and print advertisements, promotion, newsletters, public relations, direct sales and launching new services such as Consumers 24-hour program for providing loans by telephone.

She is a graduate of Waukegan East High School currently residing in Vernon Hills. She is a senior at the University of Illinois, Chicago, majoring in English.

Consumers has its financial facilities in Mundelein, Waukegan and in Round Lake Beach where Castillo now is based. Consumers is the tenth largest credit union among the 661 in Illinois.

First National Bank-Employee Owned(FNBEO) helps tackle credit card fraud

The latest statistics show credit card losses total $1.18 billion worldwide. In the U.S., thieves run up a total of $720 million in unauthorized purchases a year, according to RAM Research Corporation. Now, FNBEO provides a way for customers to safeguard against credit card fraud.

The new credit card protection service is offered to FNBEO checking customers and gives them a simple way to register all their cards, including ATM and other debit cards as well as driver's licenses, passports and frequent flyer cards. If their cards are ever lost or stolen, one toll-free phone call will stop unauthorized charges immediately. Customer liability, typically $50 per card and up to $500 per ATM and Debit card, is also covered through this program no matter how many cards the customer registered. At an average of four or more cards per American adult, that's a significant savings.

As an added convenience not usually found in credit card protection services, this one allows the customer to use the toll-free number to report a change of address. It also includes an emergency cash advance of up to $250 and emergency airline tickets when cards are lost when the customer is traveling at least fifty miles away from home.

This service is one of many offered to members of the Eagle 50 Checking Package. Other features of the Eagle 50 Checking Package include: Nationwide discount book, movie theater discounts and accidental death insurance.

For more information, call Karen Kubin at 838-2265.

Brady, Lichter to co-chair bar association education committee

Judge Donald Geiger, President of the Lake County Bar Association, has appointed attorney Sally Lichter and Senior Associate Judge Terry Brady as the 1998-1999 Co-Chairpersons of the Bar Association's Continuing Legal Education Committee. The Lake County Bar has membership of 820 lawyers and is extremely active in providing up-to-date continuing education for its members.

Lichter, whose offices are in Libertyville, has been a family law practitioner for over 12 years. A frequent contributor to family law education, Lichter has extensive knowledge of divorce related issues such as property distribution, maintenance (formerly known as alimony), child support, custody, and visitation.

Brady is well known for his lecturing and educational writings for judges and lawyers on a wide range of issues, including: Small claims, drunk driving, ethics, domestic violence, settlements and jury trials of major lawsuits. With 21 years' experience on the bench and in legal-judicial education, Brady has taught and written extensively for attorneys and Judges in Lake and McHenry Counties, as well as at statewide seminars, on these topics. In October, 1997, Brady was appointed to the visiting judicial faculty at the National Judicial College in Reno, Nevada, and lectured at a week-long seminar on Management of Jury Trials. Brady is the Democratic candidate for Circuit Judge of Lake and McHenry Counties in the upcoming November election.

THIS WAY TO WEALTH

Pay less tax on your retirement benefits

For most of us, the most significant source of retirement income will be our own corporate retirement benefits (i.e. 401(k) plan) and Social Security. Many of us will pay tax on our Social Security benefits.

Up to 85 percent of your Social Security benefits can be taxed and it is important that you understand the rules governing the taxing of your Social Security benefits. The taxation of your Social Security benefits will depend on your "provisional income." Provisional income is basically modified AGI (Adjusted Gross Income) plus one half of your Social Security benefits.

If your provisional income is:
Up to this percent of your SS will be taxed:

On a single return:
Less than $25,000 0%
$25,000 to $34,000 50%
Over $34,000 85%

On a joint return:
Less than $32,000 0%
$32,000 to $44,000 50%
Over $44,000 85%

Here are some things that you can do to keep your modified AGI lower:
1. Tax-free income from municipal bonds is added to your AGI to determine modified AGI. You or your tax accountant will need to go through the calculation to see how much tax-free income you can have before subjecting your Social Security benefits to taxation.

2. Increase "above the line" deductions (deductions that are used in determining AGI). Examples of "above the line" deductions include alimony, student loan interest, and Keogh plan payments.

3. Delay (as long as possible) distributions on your tax deferred retirement plans including IRA's. Under current law, you must begin annual minimum distributions after you reach age 70 1/2. You may be able to delay those distributions from your employer's plan if you are still working for that employer.

You can also try to accelerate income into 1998 and defer deductions until 1999 trying to reduce tax on your Social Security in 1999. This is very effective if you plan to start your Social Security benefits in 1999.

4. Be smart when it comes to your lump-sum distributions. Try these strategies:

—Roll over to an IRA. If you have your distribution transferred directly to your IRA custodian from your employer's custodian (a trustee to trustee transfer), you can avoid the 20 percent withholding tax otherwise imposed on lump-sum distributions.

—Use special forward averaging tax-computation method to lower your taxes on the distribution. Consult your tax accountant to see if this applies to you.

—If your company's retirement plan is funded with appreciated company stock, take some or all of your distribution in that stock instead of cash. You will only pay taxes on the appreciated stock's cost basis (usually the value of the stock when it was contributed to the plan) instead of the current appreciated value. Any appreciation will not be taxed until you sell the stock. If held outside your plan for more than 12 months (the new capital gains holding period which was just enacted) you can sell the stock and receive the new 20 percent capital gains tax rate. If you sold the stock in the plan and then distributed cash, ordinary income tax rates would be imposed.

Finally there is the Roth IRA, both new accounts and conversions. We will cover that subject in an upcoming article. I encourage you to consult your financial advisor to make sure you are not paying unnecessary taxes on your retirement benefits. —By Terrance R. Gaertner

ANTIOCH COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL
DISTRICT #117

Antioch Community High School District #117 today announced its policy for free meals and free milk for those students unable to pay under the Illinois Free Lunch and Special Milk Programs. The following household size and income criteria will be used for determining eligibility:

ILLINOIS INCOME GUIDELINES
(Effective from July 1, 1998 to June 30, 1999)

Household Size	Annual	FREE	Month	Week
1	$10,465	$873		$202
2	14,105	1,178		272
3	17,745	1,479		342
4	21,385	1,783		412
5	25,025	2,088		482
6	28,665	2,389		552
7	32,305	2,693		622
8	35,945	2,996		692
Each Additional
Family Member Add	+3,640	+304		+70

Children from households that meet Federal guidelines are eligible for free milk/meal.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free milk/meal benefits, households must complete the attached application as soon as possible, sign it and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school. Households should answer all applicable questions on the form. An application which does not contain all the required information cannot be processed and approved by the school. The required information is as follows:

FOOD STAMP/TANF HOUSEHOLDS: Households that currently receive food stamps or "Temporary Assistance For Needy Families" (TANF) for their child(ren), only have to list the child(ren)'s name and food stamp or TANF case number and sign the application. Link card number cannot be used.

ALL OTHER HOUSEHOLDS: If a household's income is at or below the level shown on the income scale, children are eligible for either free meals/milk. Households must provide the following information: (1) the names of all household members, (2) the Social Security number of the adult household member signing the application, or the word none if the adult does not have a Social Security number, (3) the amount of income each household member received last month and where it comes from (wages, child support, etc.), and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

The information on the application may be verified by school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If income information is provided and children are approved for free milk/meal benefits, households must tell the school when their household income increases by $50 or more per month ($600 per year) or when their household size decreases. If a food stamp or TANF case number was listed, the household must tell the school when they no longer receive food stamps or TANF for their child.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. Households that are not eligible now but have a decrease in household income, an increase in household size, or have a household member that becomes unemployed, should fill out an application at that time.

In certain cases foster children are eligible for free milk/meal benefits regardless of the household income. Households that have foster children living with them and wish to apply for free meal/milk benefits for them, should complete the application.

Households dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss it with the school. Households also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official.

Senior Lifestyle Expo, 'Your Passport to Info and Fun'

Come one, come all. To the third Annual Senior Lifestyle Expo. Following the expo's previous success, more than 5,000 seniors and their families are expected to participate in this year's event to be held on Sept. 2 and 3 in Westmont. The Inland Meeting and Exposition Center will become the entertainment and information mecca for Chicagoland area seniors. Presented by the Northeastern Illinois Area Agency on Aging, the expo will feature a range of activities, offering two days of exhibits, seminars and entertainment.

"We want to extend an invitation to all our area's seniors," says Connie Kobitter, spokesperson for the event. "The expo is an opportunity to become part of a thriving and influential community; it is a chance for seniors to become more active and to be aware of the many opportunities now available to them. Perhaps the finest aspect of the expo is that it allows seniors not only to help themselves, but also to help each other: 100 percent of the event's proceeds are donated to purchase hot, nutritious meals for those elderly members of the community who are homebound."

Nearly 100 exhibitors will be making available information on every aspect of mature life, from travel to health, from legal issues to cooking. Scheduled seminars include such beneficial topics as finance, travel, caregiving and health. And, back by popular demand, many exhibitors will offer health screenings (cholesterol, blood pressure, hearing, etc.) New this year, the Office of the Secretary of State will provide free state id's to seniors (for those over 65 years) and the disabled. Just bring a social security card (original) and either your birth certificate, passport or Medicare card, as well as proof of address. Vision screenings will also be provided.

Of course, the Expo is not exclusively dedicated to such pragmatic and sensible activities; essentially, this is two days dedicated to pure enjoyment. WFLD-TV's Harry Volkman, an established favorite among seniors, will speak at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday and 11:30 a.m. on Thursday. Second City Comedy, first in Chicago improvisational comedy, has customized its show for seniors; it will be performed on Thursday at 2:30 p.m. And while the young hipsters are just discovering the joy of Swing, the folks who brought it to life in every town in America will have a chance to cut a rug with Big Time Riley Wimes (DJ) at the Swing Dance on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. There will also be dance instructors from "Big City Swing."

Ms. Senior Illinois, Cathy Urban of Hawthorn Woods, will be speaking and performing Thursday from 12:30 to 12:40 p.m. At 66 years old, she has been an elementary school teacher for 18 years and is a member of the Lyric Opera of Chicago. As a singer, she generously donates her musical services to innumerable benefits, charity fund-raisers, children's groups and hospitals.

From fitness activities hosted by the YMCA to Barbershop Quartets, the Senior Expo offers a little bit of everything and a lot of fun for everyone. The Expo will take place from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Sept. 2 and 3 at the Inland Exposition Center in Westmont. Tickets are only $3 per person for both days, with group rates available at $2 per person with a group of 15 or more. For more information on the event, call 1 (800) 528-2000 or visit their website at www.ageguide.org.

The Northeastern Illinois Area Agency on Aging is a nonprofit organization chartered in 1974 to plan and coordinate a comprehensive network of services for older persons in DuPage, Grundy, Kane, Kendall, Kankakee, Lake, McHenry and Will counties in Illinois. Services funded and coordinated by the Area Agency meet the diverse needs of area seniors by providing information and assistance in the areas of adult day care, legal services, health screenings, employment opportunities, transportation housing and others.

Volkman: Will speak at Senior Expo

Programs for seniors this fall

Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, has scheduled a variety of free health screenings and programs of interest to area residents age 55 and older. Advanced registration is required for participation in these programs. Because space is limited, those interested in attending are urged to call 1 (800) 843-2464 to reserve their space.

A two-part program, "Managing Your Congestive Heart Failure," is designed to help people diagnosed with this disease learn to manage their illness on a daily basis. Led by experienced registered nurses and registered dietitians from Victory Memorial Hospital, the program includes discussion of medications, sodium and fluid intake, weight monitoring, exercise and cooking tips. "Managing Your Congestive Heart Failure" will be held from 1 to 2 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 8 and Tuesday, Sept. 22 at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, 1055 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst. Attendance at both sessions is required.

Experienced hospital staff will provide "Osteoporosis Risk Evaluations," on Saturday, Sept. 12, at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan. Participants can choose to attend either a 9 a.m. or 10:15 a.m. session. The evaluation includes a risk factor questionnaire and a wrist/ankle measurement. In addition, there is a short educational program on exercise, diet and medications in the prevention and treatment of osteoporosis.

"Prostate Cancer Screenings" will be provided by Victory Memorial Hospital in conjunction with board certified urologists from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 15 and Thursday, Sept. 17. The screening includes a PSA blood test and a digital rectal exam. On Sept. 15, appointments will be available for the screening at The Victory Health Care Center, 100 N. Atkinson Road, Grayslake. On Sept. 17, the screening will be held at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan. Men who have had an exam for prostate cancer at their doctor's office within the last 12 months need not participate in this screening.

Leg cramps, even tingling sensations in the hands or feet, can be a sign of peripheral arterial disease (PAD), a serious circulation problem. Victory's "Peripheral Arterial Disease Screening" helps people recognize signs of this disease. Screening appointments are available between 3 and 6:45 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 22 at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan.

These programs and services are provided as a community services to the residents of northern Lake County. For a complete calendar of community programs or a booklet on the services offered by Victory Memorial Hospital, call 1 (800) 843-2464.

Hawthorn Lakes now offers Assisted Living

Are you worrying more about your mom these days? If your mom or loved one lives alone, you probably check on her often because you're concerned about her safety and well being. You wonder...

- ☒ Has she eaten today?
- ☒ Did she remember to take her medications?
- ☒ Could she slip and fall while bathing?
- ☒ Does she still see her friends, or does she spend too much time by herself?
- ☒ What if something happened and she couldn't get to the phone for help?

Hawthorn Lakes
is
The Answer

Our Assisted Living Program is designed for individuals who need personal care assistance on a daily basis, but do not need a nursing home.

To learn more about all that Hawthorn Lakes has to offer, from independent to assisted living, please call 847/367-2516 to arrange a tour.

Victory Lakes... The Natural Choice

Victory Lakes provides family-centered, quality long-term care in a natural home-like environment. We realize that when a loved one must separate from the family, it can be a difficult experience for everyone involved. At Victory Lakes, we try to make this transition a little easier by having open visiting hours and encouraging family and friends to stop by and join in our many resident activities and holiday gatherings.

Victory Lakes offers comfort, convenience and concern. From the raised, outdoor flower beds for our wheelchair-bound gardeners to the cozy dining room to our in-house beauty parlor and colorful aviary to the sparkling clean living areas, loving care is evident everywhere.

Come visit any time. Meet our professional staff. Get to know firsthand what you can expect from a quality nursing home environment.

We offer:

- ◆ Long-term nursing care
- ◆ Rehabilitation/Medicare Unit-short term
- ◆ Alzheimer's and Related Disorders Unit
- ◆ Respite Care Program-overnight to 30 days
- ◆ Assisted Living

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear ...Search,

Three weeks ago I had received a job offer from (name withheld), in Lake County. The company had brought me on a Friday for a third interview when the offer was made and accepted. Once the offer was accepted, I was given pre-employment paperwork necessary for taking a drug test at a specified location just down the street from the company that day. I had plans immediately following the interview, and time just got away. In all the excitement, I had completely forgotten about the drug test until Monday afternoon, as I was coming out of the morning training for a lunch break. I was approached by the person in the Personnel department who had given me the paperwork on Friday. He asked me how everything went Friday and I of course stood there looking stupid I'm sure. I explained that I totally forgot to go in all the excitement. I told him that I would be happy to go today right after work. He told me to go ahead to lunch and to stop back in his office when I returned. Done! I returned however, to find that employment had been terminated 4 hours in to the first day. I feel this was totally wrong and want to know if there is something I can do about it. Any ideas?
K.K.P. - Vernon Hills

Dear K.K.P.,

I realize that perhaps on Friday, in all your excitement you may have forgotten to go. What about Friday night...Saturday or Sunday? Had you opened the pre-employment information that was given to you, you would have seen in bold letters, "TO BE COMPLETED PRIOR TO THE FIRST DAY OF EMPLOYMENT".
You would have read on to find out that the facility was open on Saturday and Sunday as well. I am sure the company figured you either couldn't follow directions, were afraid of not passing the test or that the job wasn't important enough for you. My suggestion to you is to move on and learn from this.

Dear ...Search,

I am one male in a department with three females who make their hobbies, "male bashing." Each day I sit and listen to these women and I am sick of it! I have let them know how nasty they sound and how frustrating it is for me to have to sit here and listen to this day after day. Our boss is male and most likely unaware of what is going on. I would like it to stop. They read your column each week and perhaps they will see how immature they are acting and how hurtful some of the things they say can be even though they are not directed at me.
Frustrated-Libertyville

Dear Frustrated,

I don't blame you for the way you feel. If you think you are frustrated...think of how miserably frustrated these women must be to carry on this way. They say that "misery loves company". Let them know how you feel and that you would appreciate them putting the male bashing to a halt. If this doesn't help...remind them that the person who sees to it that they are employed, is a male! Good luck!

Landmark Designs

SCRIVANO (408-62LP60)

Gracious, southern style living is exemplified by the Scrivano (408-62). Pillars welcome visitors, giving the entrance to this home the feel of stately living. The exterior has been done in brick and wood, with a veranda deck on the first floor in the rear and on the second floor in the front. The Scrivano contains 4,131 square feet of living space along with an undeveloped basement area of 2,284 square feet.

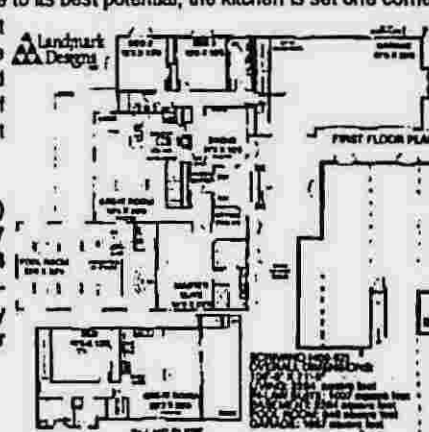

There are two skylights in the covered entrance. Upon entering, the dining room is to the right with the kitchen directly across the room. Walking through the kitchen, the breakfast nook and family room spread openly. Fans and skylights add to the attractiveness of the area. Behind the kitchen area are two bedrooms, a full bath, storage closets, and the utility room with an ironing board.

To the left of the entry is the master suite with its private sitting room, a large walk-in closet, along with a full bath. Windows in this room add light and balance to the room along with exterior beauty.

The room off the master suite is the most unique room in this gracious home. This is the pool room, containing its own indoor pool. There are skylights and fans with numerous windows so the room is bright and sunny, making the swimming enjoyable any time of the year. If an indoor pool is not desired, this room would be ideal for a pool table or as a recreation room.

The garage, located off the main utility room, contains stairs for the undeveloped basement and for a private entrance to the in-law suite on the second floor. Another stairway to this apartment is also located on the exterior and goes up to the deck outside. The second floor has been designed to be an in-law apartment, giving the impression of separation and independence. It contains a bedroom with a large wall closet, its own private utility room, and a full bath. To use the space to its best potential, the kitchen is set one corner, with the balance of the area open to be used as a great room. There is also a pantry for food storage. The veranda deck off the great room is a nice touch and makes this area totally independent from the rest of the home. The area under the deck can be a carport for an extra car, if needed.

For a study kit of the SCRIVANO (408-62LP60) send $14.95, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Specify plan name & number for kit). For a collection of plan books, send $20.00, or save by ordering the kit and collection together for $29.95, or call 1-800-562-1151.

Warning! Warning!

School Bus Safety Alert!

BE ON THE LOOKOUT...

School's back in session and in the excitement of the new school year, many school-aged children, especially the young ones, may forget to look both ways when crossing the street or exiting the school bus. That leaves it up to you, as a driver, to be extra careful around school play areas and departing school buses.

So remember...when you see yellow, be sure to see red - as in red alert. Let's all slow down and give our children the chance they deserve.
